STUDENT LIFE

Arkansas State, along with the University of Arkansas at Little Rock, headed the list of increased enrollment in the state for 1974, with an enrollment of 6,676. This was an increase of 216 from the 1973 figure. Registrar Lloyd Howell stated that part of the increase was due to the greater number of local residents enrolled in night classes.

Reng Center: A Center Of Many Faces

The Carl R. Reng Center is more than just another multi-million dollar building. It is the student center of Arkansas State. Nowhere else can a student grab a hamburger, play a game of pool, have his hair cut and have a bookstore readily available to him. Nowhere else can he find space for banquets and meetings, as well as facilities for student government and publication operations. The Reng Center has become a place for many students to spend time between classes and to relax.

Competition Eliminated For Displays

Homecoming was also the first time the Greeks made the displays a group effort, combining as teams and eliminating competition. The spirits were still high as the Marching Indians dedicated their half time show to Dr. Reng. The Indians capped a victory over Northeast Louisiana with a score of 17 to 14.

Homecoming Concert Features

Blood, Sweat And Tears

Playing such favorites as "Spinning Wheel" and "You Make Me So Very Happy" to a capacity crowd of 1,743, Blood, Sweat and Tears officially began Homecoming activities. To many, the concert proved to be one of the better points of the weekend.

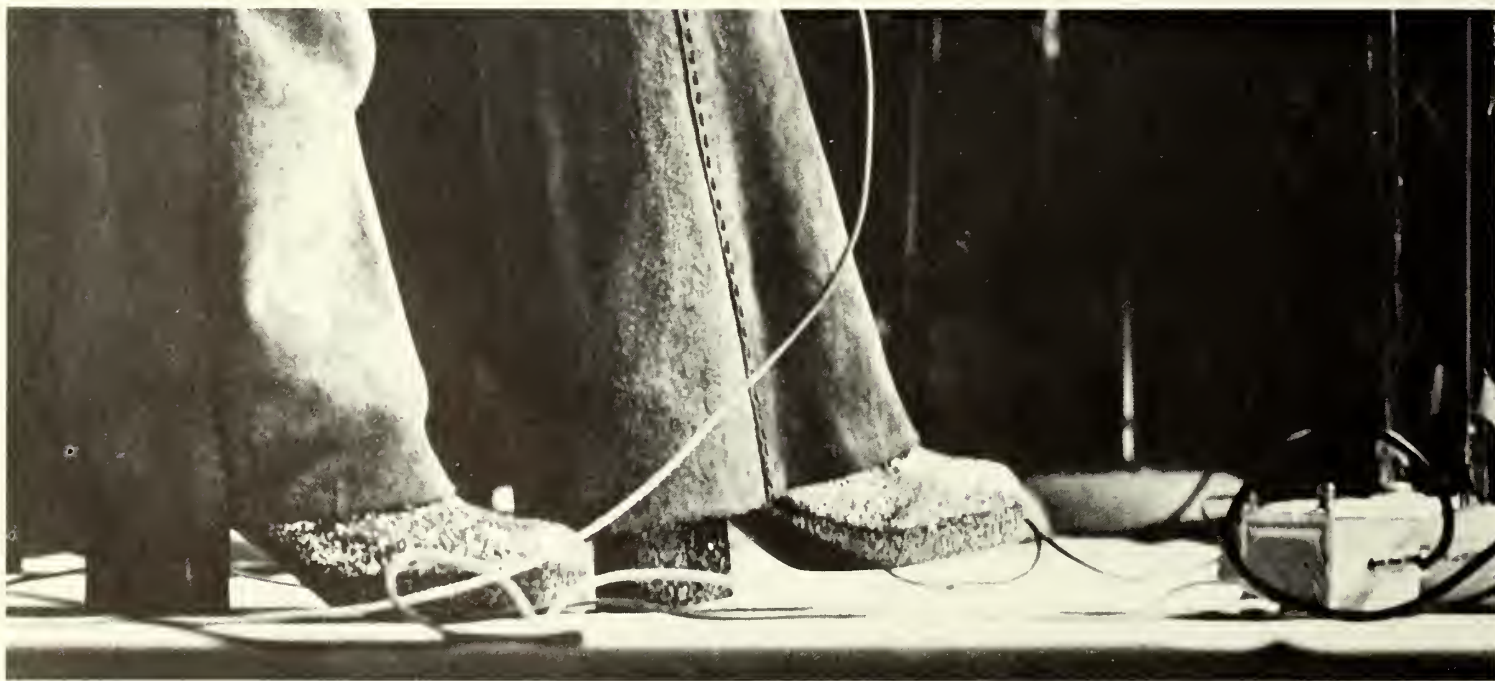

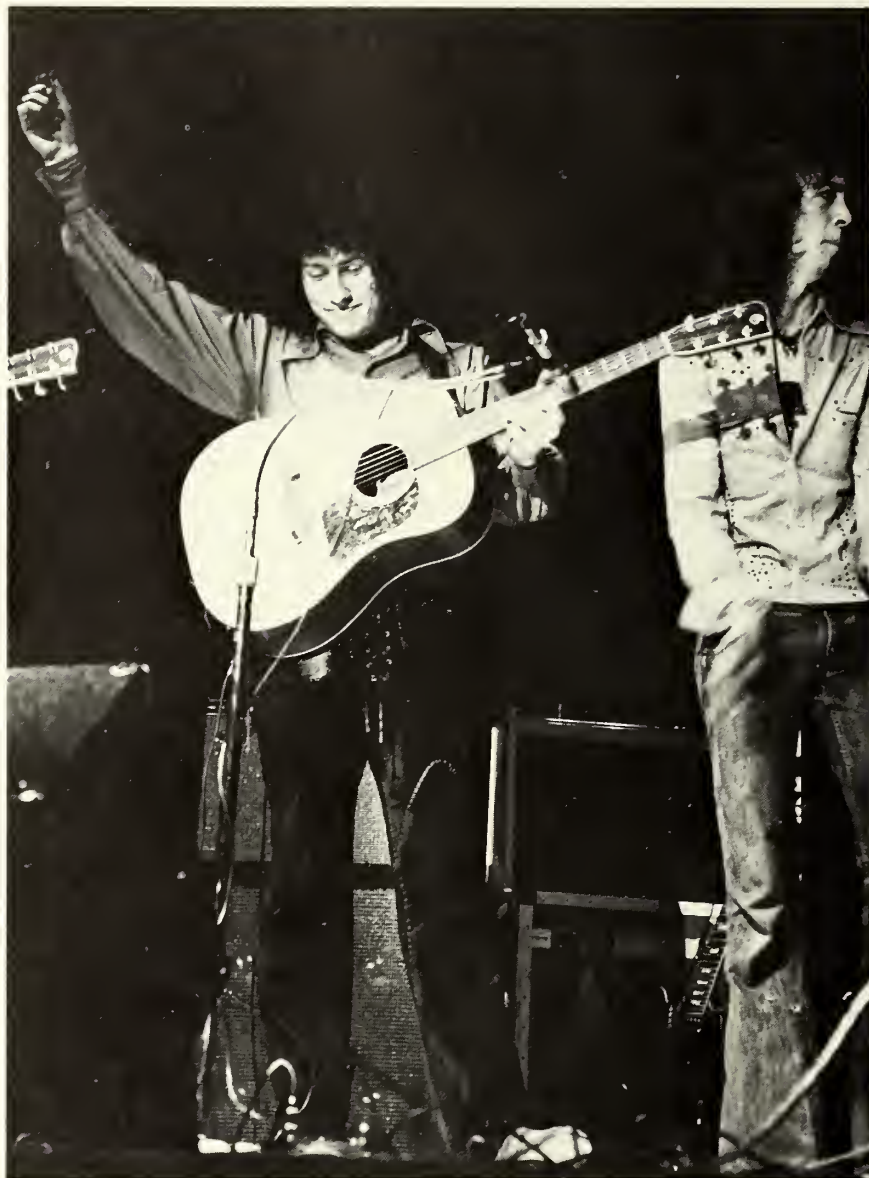

Loggins Begins New Artist Series

Dave Loggins, performing "Please come to Boston", one of Billboard Magazine's top 10 singles, appeared in concert Tuesday, September 17, at 8 p.m. in Indian Field House. Loggins opened this year's concert season with what the Student Government Association calls the 'New Artist Series'. The Dave Loggins concert drew a crowd of some 700 students as the 'New Artist Series' came into existence in hopes of familiarizing the student body with upcoming artists in the musical field.

Earl Scruggs Revue Pleases ASU Crowd

The Earl Scruggs Revue, along with Grass Valley, took the stage at Indian Field House on Tuesday, September 27. They brought ASU students a combination of Bluegrass, spiritual, rock and country music. The Revue, having gained praise from top music critics throughout the nation, is known for such hit tunes as "Foggy Mountain Breakdown" and "The Ballad of Jed Clampett". Even though the Revue drew a less-than-capacity crowd the show was pleasing to their ASU fans.

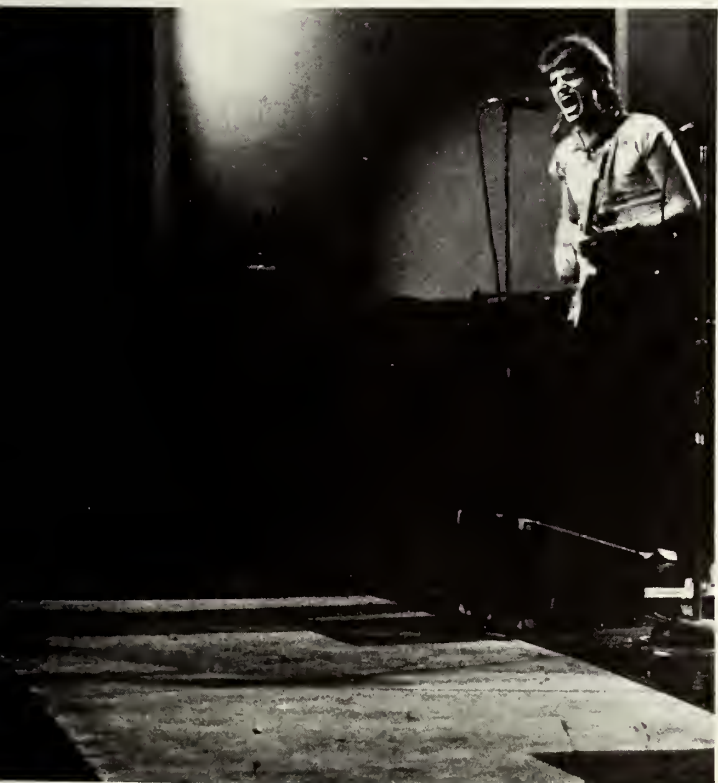

Rasberry Highsteps And "Dixie" Dines

Performing in Wilson Auditorium on Wednesday, Jan. 29, Larry Rasberry and the Highsteppers, entertained independently owned television cameras as well as ASU students. Rasberry and his Highsteppers, along with Granny's Bathwater, made appearances in shows at 7 and 10 p.m. What some students termed an advertising gimmick, the "Dixie Diner" group of Memphis fame provided an evening of unusual musical entertainment to two full houses. Larry Rasberry and the Highsteppers ended the concert season for this year's student senate.

Variety is the key to suiting individual taste, and these individuals as well as groups, have brought an assortment of musical entertainment to ASU.

The ASU Jazz Ensemble, pictured below, performed in the Reng Center Ballroom Wednesday, December 4. The group entertained a capacity crowd with the "big band" selections. Proceeds from the concert sent the Ensemble to the Wichita Jazz Festival.

On Tuesday, November 5, Aldo Mancinelli, pianist and artist in residence at the University of Tulsa, performed six musical selections in the recital hall of the Fine Arts building as a presentation of the ASU Division of Music. Mr. Mancinelli is pictured below on the opposite page.

The Community Jazz Ensemble, opposite page above, brought the sound of Woody Herman and Count Basie to ASU on Friday, January 24 in Wilson Hall. The 20 piece group consisted of student, graduate and professional musicians.

Finally, on Monday, February 10, the Norman Luboff Choir, right, performed a two-hour vocal concert before 2,500 in Indian Fieldhouse. The 26-member choir has made a total of 50 record albums and performs both classical and popular music.

Yes, diversity is the key to successful entertainment.

Variety Brings Entertainment Success

From Frank Reynolds to Guy "Mutt" Jones, students are offered a diversified program through the Lecture-Concert Series, SGA Worldscope and various academic organizations such as Sigma Xi. From explaining campaign election reform, to revealing past political affairs, students are able to listen to what is said and to direct their questions to the lecturers.

Other pertinent topics of discussion by lecturers have included abolition of the draft, Equal Rights Amendment and genetic control.

Several Speakers Visited During The Year

"A one party state is a no party state."
KEN COON, GOP CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

"Howdy, I don't even know why I'm here."
GUY "MUTT" JONES, FORMER STATE SENATOR

"We have developed in this country . . . a new class of people known as the dietary upper class."
SENATOR MARK HATFIELD, R-ORE.

"President Ford . . . did everything right, for at least a couple of weeks."
FRANK REYNOLDS, ABC NEWSMAN

"Laws should permit the termination of pregnancy in some cases, but not demand it."
DR. ELVING ANDERSON, PROF. U. OF MINN.

Alexander Seeks Postal Legislation

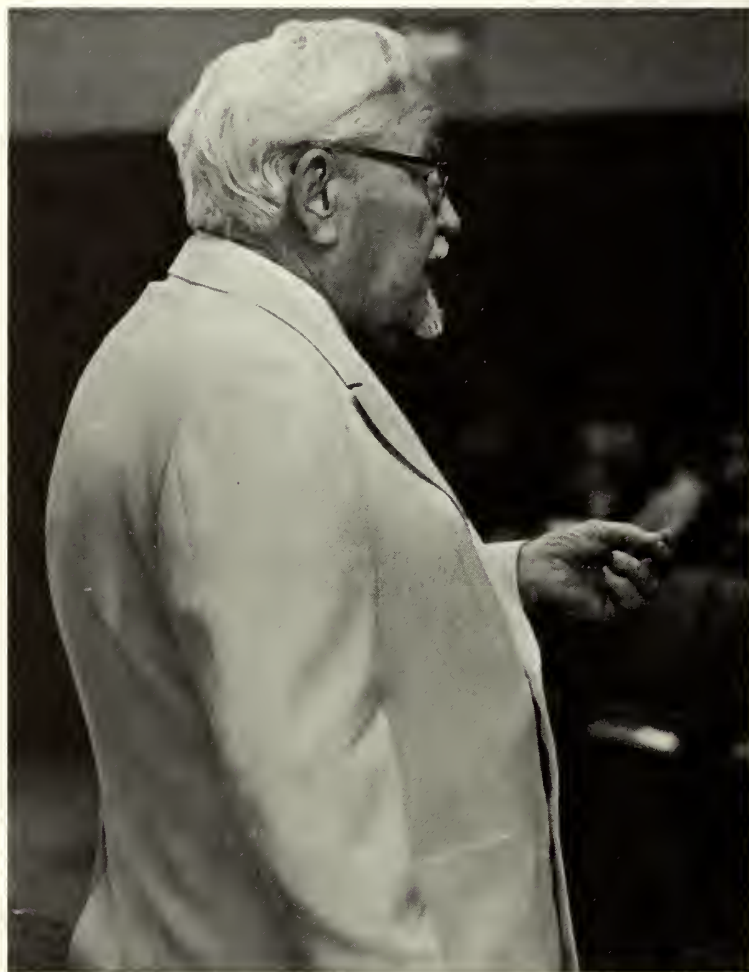

Whether they lecture, perform or converse with administration officials, personalities are important to the ASU campus.

Congressman Bill Alexander, above, has visited the ASU campus several times. His main concern has been to present his views on the need for revising postal service on the local level.

Colonel Sanders, right, of Kentucky Fried Chicken fame, spoke to College of Business students on his business success.

And finally, these University of Arkansas students presented two comic operas in Wilson Auditorium.

Independent Student League Takes Election

Pleading with students to "go independent", the Independent Student League was able to capture the top nine Student Government Association positions along with a majority of the representative positions. Dean Brimer of Bald Knob captured the position of SGA President as he triumphed over Roger Franks in a run-off election as the result of a split in voting influenced by Tim Rand, a third presidential candidate.

The next highest position, that of first vice-president was taken by David Ferguson, while that of second vice-president went to Sandy Wells.

Campus Politics: An Offering Of Platform Promises

Confronted from every angle, February once again brought discussion, debate and a desire to be the dominant party. This year students made a decision to begin a student government association dominated by the once subordinate ISL.

Campaigning from one forgotten face to another, the campus politicians paced the Reng Center breezeway the entire campaign period.

Ebony Ball Highlights Black History Week

Festivities began February 7, as Black History Week opened with the crowning of Miss Ebony Queen. The queen is chosen to reign over Black History Week and the remainder of the school year.

Other events during this year's Black History Week included a Spiritual Hour, Black Expo, guest speaker Myron Lowery, news broadcaster for WMC-TV, a talent show, film festival, fashion show, and finally the Ebony Ball which climaxed the weeks activities.

Myron Lowery, above, a newsman with WMC-TV of Memphis, was the featured speaker during Black History Week festivities.

King Kong in Greenwich Village?

"The Secret Affairs of Mildred Wild" the Speech and Drama Department's first production of the year, brought laughs to packed houses in Wilson Hall October 9-12. Along with King Kong came the 'Hollywood Housewife', Scarlett O'Hara, tap-dancing and Ginger Rogers. Debbie Benson as Mildred and Rodger Bumpass as her husband Roy, sparkled in their changing personalities. Other cast members included Joanne Burleson, Gary Heath, Jill Litzenfelner, Cheryl Pearson, Ann Marie Smith, Dennis Kersting, Phil Smith and Rusty Clark. "The Secret Affairs of Mildred Wild", directed by Terry Huckabee with set designs by Ken Parks, will be this year's entry in the American College Theatre Festival in Little Rock.

Greek Classics Presented By Division Of Music

On November 14th and 15th, the Division of Music presented "Dido and Aeneas", a Greek classic opera based on mythology. It featured Suzanne Todd as Dido, James Sanders as Aeneas and Leslie Galloway as Belinda.

A contemporary opera, "Boor" with Randy Erwin as Boor, Paula Shaneyfelt as the widow and Steve Walker as the servant, was also presented. Both operas were performed at Wilson Hall.

Thespians Take Off With Peter Pan

J. M. Barrie's Peter Pan, directed and staged by ASU drama students, was presented nightly January 13th through the 17th to packed houses in Wilson Auditorium. Youngsters from all over Northeast Arkansas were entertained by the cast during a number of special matinees.

The Peter Pan cast featured Bob Simpson as Peter Pan, Debbie Benson as Wendy and Rodger Bumpass as Captain Hook.

On Wednesday, February 26, the Bridal Fair, an annual event hosted in the Reng Center Ballroom, attracted some 200 people.

From traditional wedding marches to solo singing, ASU coeds modeled gowns provided by Dillard's. The girls also carried fresh flowers as they assumed their wedding party roles.

The program began with Sharon Tyre, soloist, accompanied by organist Mike Ethridge, and was concluded with the awarding of door prizes.

Hopefuls Model
Wedding Attire

Students had to dream of a white Christmas this year, for the first of two "not so big" snows came the weekend following vacation. The "big" snow—two inches—came on Thursday, February 6, as students were seen making the most of icy walkways and mushy snowballs. But winter was not over, at least that is what the thermostats said. Nonetheless, while there was snow "a good time was had by all".

February Brought Biggest Two Inch Snow Ever

May Graduation Offers a Total of 1,087 Degrees

With May commencement exercises being held in Indian Field House, Dr. Nathaniel Evers, speaker, wished success to 1,087 students receiving degrees.

Once again August brought graduation ceremonies as ASU extended degrees to a total of 415. The graduation ceremonies, taking place this time at Kays Stadium, featured Dr. Jerry L. Mars, who spoke on the educational system of the present, giving graduates something to think about.

And After All The Big Events . . .

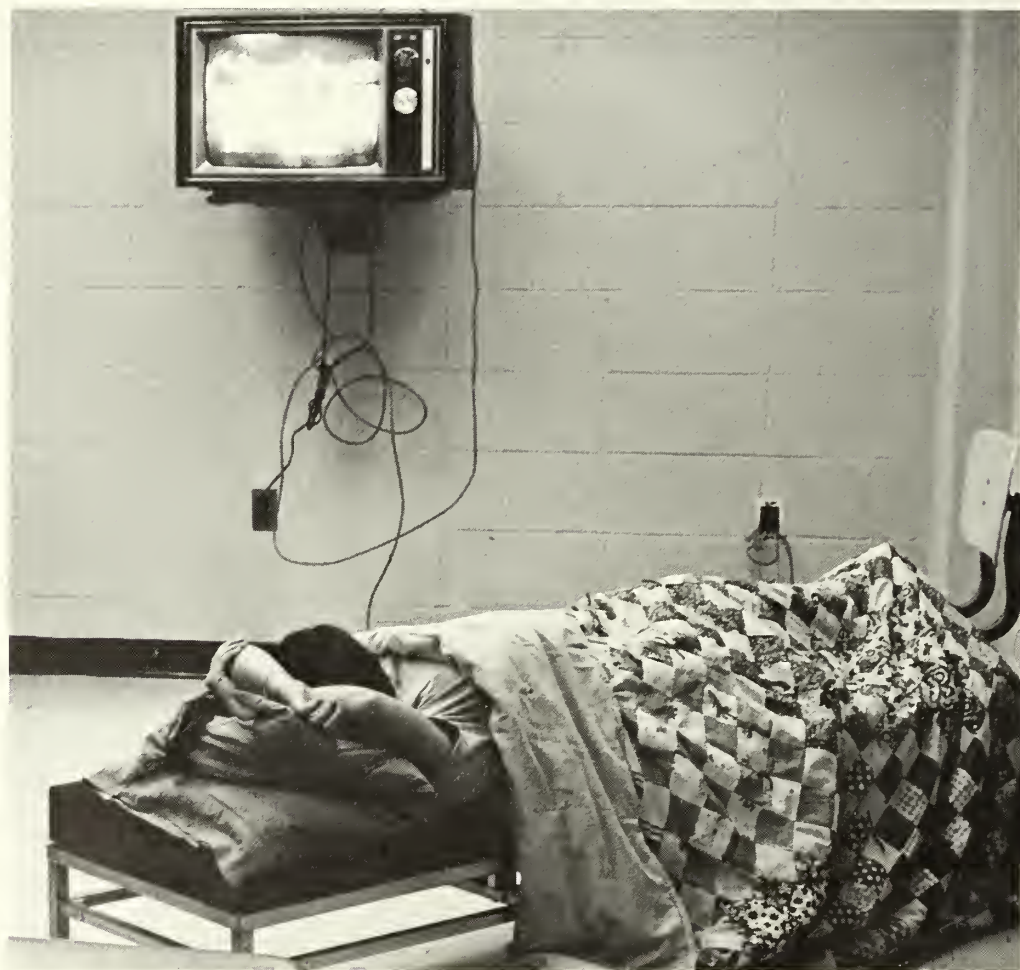

. . . Then What?

If you are one of the 6,000 students of Arkansas State University, then you probably know about all the major events, such as Homecoming, SGA elections and plays, that happen year after year. The faces may change from year to year, but the activities are pretty much the same. But what goes on after all the big events? In the following section, there is represented only a fraction of what goes on at ASU, after the big events take place.

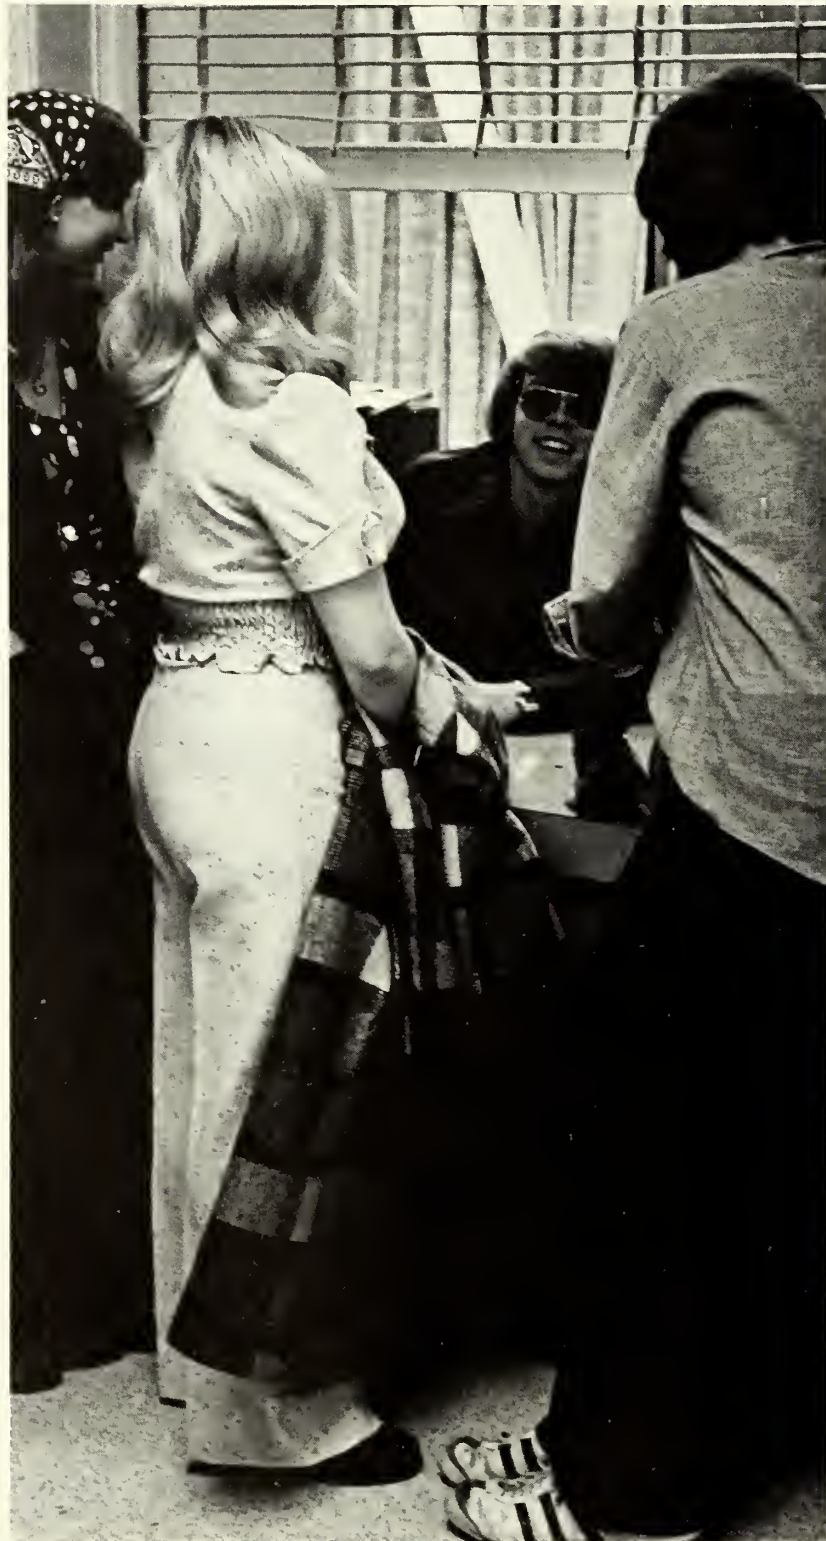

Dorm Life—The Next Best Thing To Being Where?

Dorm life! The only life I know that reaps its worth in benefits, or should I say misfits. Where else but Twin Towers can you become enlightened by such uncensored humor as that existing on bathroom walls. Where else but University Hall can you spend a quiet (?) evening amidst green and blue vinyl couches. And would somebody please put a door on the john stall on the second floor of Delta. Yes, dorm life has something to offer, even though that something is not always the "next best thing to being there". And furthermore, because private moments do not abound in the college dormitory, let it be known that neither does an ideal study situation.

A new look at intervisitation is approaching ASU, as coeds are beginning to seed a form of intervisitation that can suit their needs. While the female plight is still in the survey stage, the problem is at least being noticed.

Men are now looking forward to the possibility of 24-hour intervisitation, but they still find the plan now in existence at least partially fulfilling.

On the lighter side, intervisitation brings the hassels of signing in but offers the joys of getting a look at his new goldfish. By the way, is there another word for intervisitation?

Some People Call It Inter-*ming*le-tation

Students Dominate Apartment Life

From late night pinball, to throwing a neighbor in the nearest swimming hole, off campus living offers different things to different people. Some students find living off campus something to shout about, while still others try to make even the mundane chores in a "washateria" seem laughable.

No doubt, off campus life is enticing to most every student, even if being off campus means returning to the dorm after a week-end of off campus partying.

From Aggie to Caraway to Johnson apartments and trailers abound, the majority of which are dominated by ASU students.

Off Campus — A World Of Differences

New this year to Indian Village is the organization of the IVRA, the Indian Village Residents Association. Under the leadership of acting chairman Jim Goza, the village has successfully gained representation in the Student Government Association as well as securing garbage pick-up services. The IVRA was organized in hopes of creating better relations in the village as well as better representation campus wide.

Indian Village Residents Organize

Intramurals: Therapy for Stress

Intramurals! Under what other circumstances would they play four football games on one otherwise unused field, the object being to establish your athletic prowess as an organization. In the fall, football takes priority as a team sport while golf and tennis offer individual competition. Even though intramurals sometimes lack the most organized planning, intramural play still offers a way to use your knowledge and capability—or just down right willingness to play the game—in order to have a good time.

Intramurals Promote Organized Exercise

Christmas Season Comes In The “St. Nick” Of Time

Even though the Christmas season brings with it the arrival of the students' not so long awaited gift — final exams— ASU students still find time to gather canned food, carol in front of the Reng center, and in general assume the Christmas spirit. Although lack of sleep and long study hours plague students, many manage to put up trees, paint windows and patronize area stores.

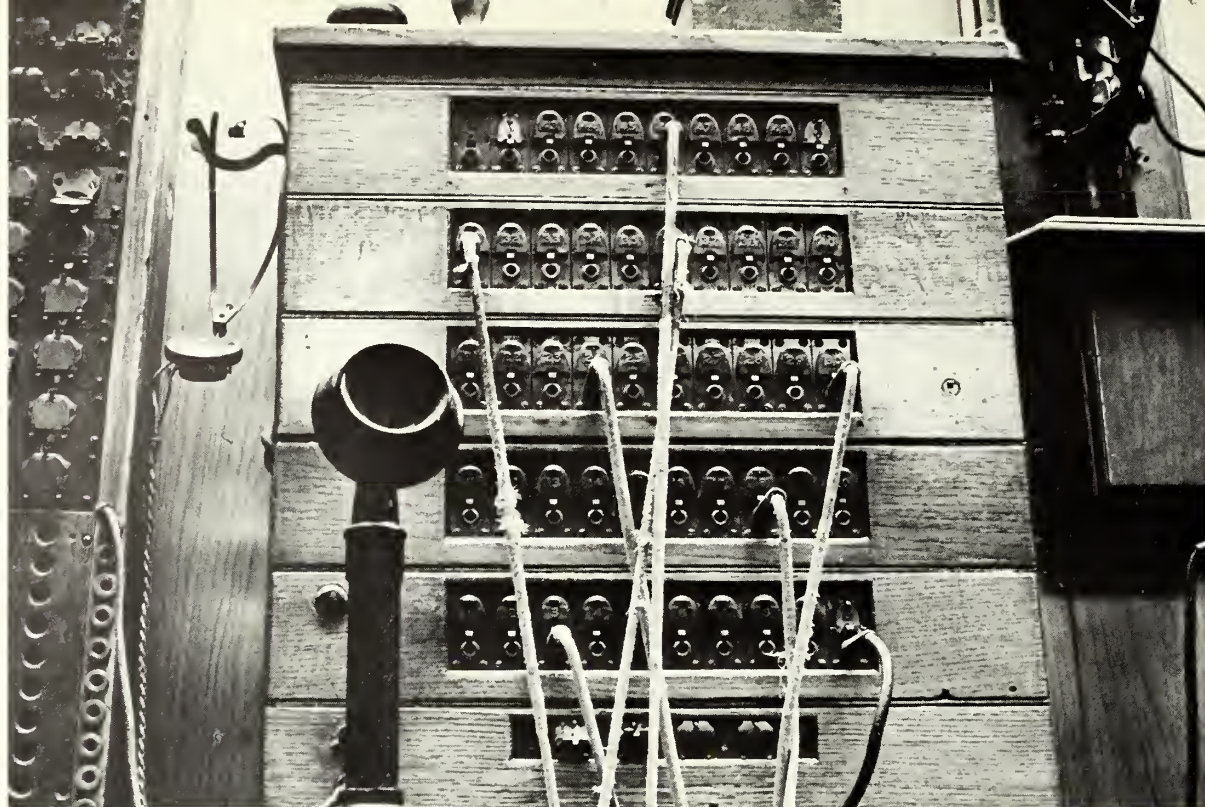

A Library: More Than Just Books

Dean B. Ellis Library—a most vital tool for one seeking knowledge. Besides offering an almost endless number of books, Dean B. Ellis Library boasts an Arkansas Room, a microfilm library, plenty of room to study and a quiet atmosphere. Whether it is research paper time or just time to cram for that big exam, even a dog can find a bit of solitude there.

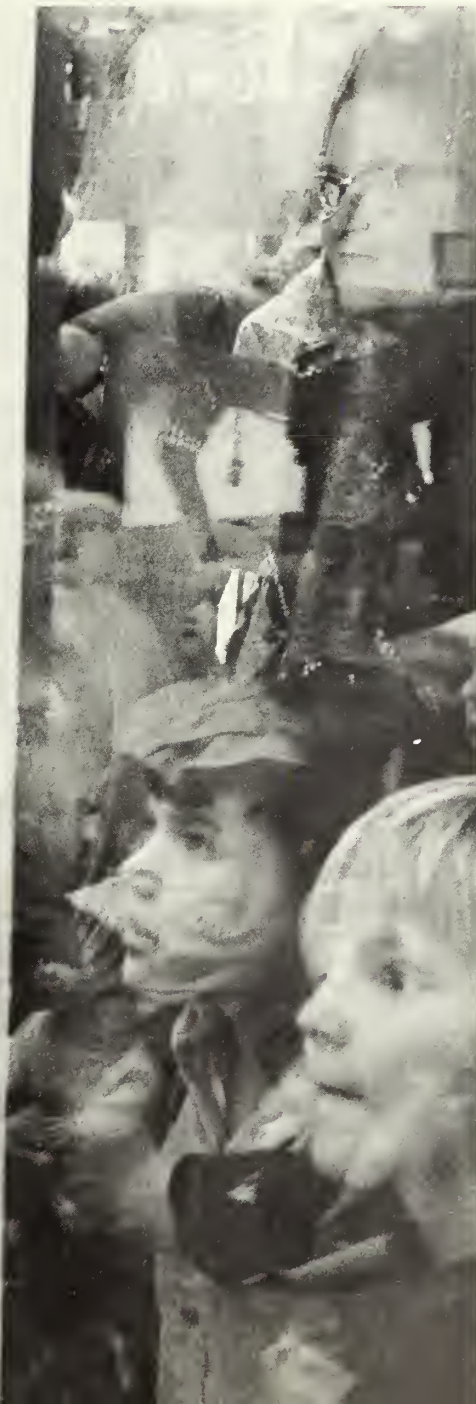

Museum — Changing to Better Serve

This year new additions to the ASU Museum, purchased by Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Wittlake, directors, have included Chickasaw Pottery, a doll that exhibits the White Man's influence on the Indian, and a silver hair comb. Also completed this year with the purchase of a century old Indian piroque was the display on pioneer transportation.

Besides offering student involvement, the ASU Museum, housed in the Dean B. Ellis Library, has become a must for all area students to visit. Attendance records have been seen to mount year after year with the trend showing continuation in this direction.

There is really only one similarity between bicycling and spring. That similarity is that spring is the time when bicycles abound, especially at ASU. Along with a great number of 10-speed cyclists comes a goodly number of sun-bathers who seem to think that any day of 60 degrees that boasts at least one patch of sunlight is a sun-bathers delight. Tennis courts also begin being overcrowded as the tennis buffs begin gathering, and nearby golf courses at springtime are a student golfers paradise. But we must not forget neighborhood basketball and the apartment swimming pools.

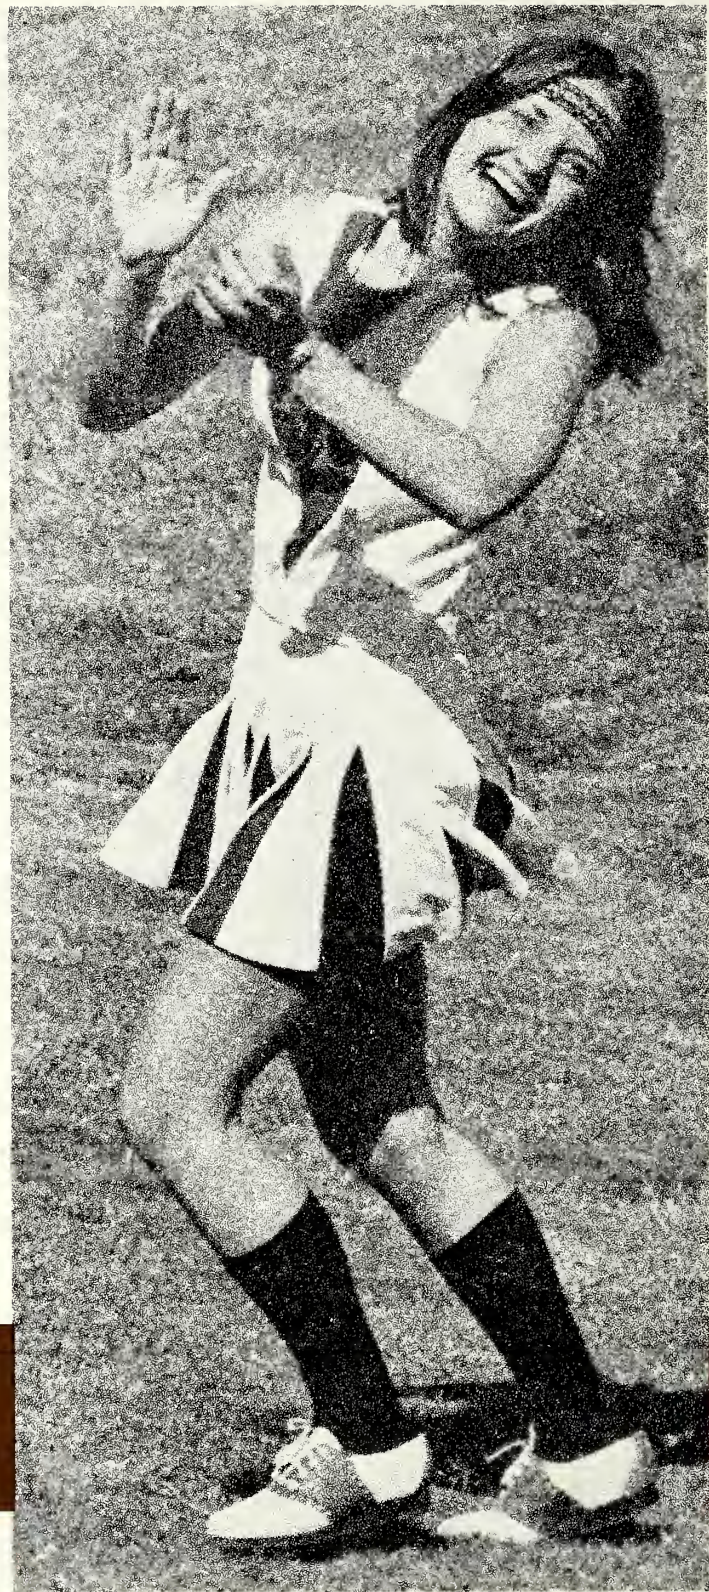

Spring fever is one fever that most everyone wants to be a part of, and students at ASU are no exception.

Spring Has Sprung With Bikes And Bathers

PERSONALITIES

Chief Slows Pace

Chief Big Track, Jack Stevens, had to slow his horse to a walk as the new stadium provided a limited area for romping. As always, the traditional ride follows every Indian touchdown. Maria Malham, Princess, graces the appearance of the family, as Dean Massey, Brave, continues to be the highlight of the playing of the Indian War Dance. New to this years family was the construction of a permanent metal teepee measuring 15-feet.

Cheerleaders Go Bananas!

ASU cheerleaders took on a new brand of enthusiasm this year by promoting Indian spirit through theme variation. From "Go Bananas" to "Chow Down", the yell leaders helped lead Indian backers.

GREEKS

UPPER RIGHT: "I never gave nothin' to the Tin Man— that he didn't already have." The Kappa Delta's entertain rushees with a Wizard of Oz skit: UPPER LEFT: The AOPI production of "Sounds of the South" provided entertainment by Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn.

Rush, Rush, and Rush Some More!

RUSH. This is a very important word to those students wanting to join Greek life. While sororities are having coke parties, skating parties, swimming parties and putting on productions, the fraternities are having dances, smokers and formal rush parties. Those first few weeks of September are exciting, hectic and very rushed—but worth every minute of it to those who join the life of the Greeks!

UPPER RIGHT: One of the goals of the Interfraternity Council was to distribute rush material to male students. LOWER RIGHT: Men's rush provides activities for coeds too.

More Mud for Greeks

Pi Kappa Alpha has some muddy thoughts- especially when it comes time for "Pike Little Olympics". Highlights include tug-o-war, egg drop, egg throw, and leap frog — through the mud of course! Many laughs were shared and girls were seen looking like they've never looked before. Chi Omega received the first place trophy for the muddy occasion.

KD's Raise Excess of $5,000

The John T. Memorial School was the motive for the second annual Kappa Delta walk-a-thon. The ten-mile walk gained an excess of $5,000 in pledges. Chi Omega sorority raised the largest amount being $800. Proceeds were used to purchase physical therapy equipment and pave the parking lot of the school.

Follies Attract Pointer Sisters And Motorcycle Daredevil

Zeta Tau Alpha and the Zeta Follies of Arkansas State University could be the hit of the season! Top awards went to Alpha Gamma Delta and Alpha Tau Omega. The proceeds go to the Cottage of Hope and the National Association for Retarded Children.

Greek Goddesses Gather At TKE Fingerbowl

The mighty Tekes battled the southern gentlemen of Kappa Alpha in the 1974 TKE Fingerbowl. The victors — Tau Kappa Epsilon. . . Skits were presented by all sororities, with first place going to Chi Omega. Proceeds went to the St. Jude's Children's Hospital in Memphis.

Songfest Aides Arthritis Foundation

Just as sure as every March rolls around, Alpha Omicron Pi is planning their annual Songfest. Fraternities and sororities enter in competition based on harmony, blend, tone and appearance. All proceeds are given to the National Arthritis Foundation, their philanthropy. Winners of the 1974 Songfest were Alpha Gamma Delta and Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Weather Hampers LXA "Little 500"

It began on a rainy spring day. The men of Lambda Chi Alpha sponsored their annual LXA "Little 500". This year it was a little different due to the fact that only fraternities participated. Awards were given for the best decorated car, tricycle grand prix, push car race and the hard luck trophy. The grand prize winners were Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

E. E. Lawson Hosts AGD Talent Show

A Burt Bacharach melody won first place trophy as sung by Chi Omega sorority. Second place went to Kappa Alpha and third went to Alpha Omicron Pi. Emcee, Britt James (pictured below) displayed his talent with a pantomime to E. E. Lawson. All proceeds go to the Helen Dudley School.

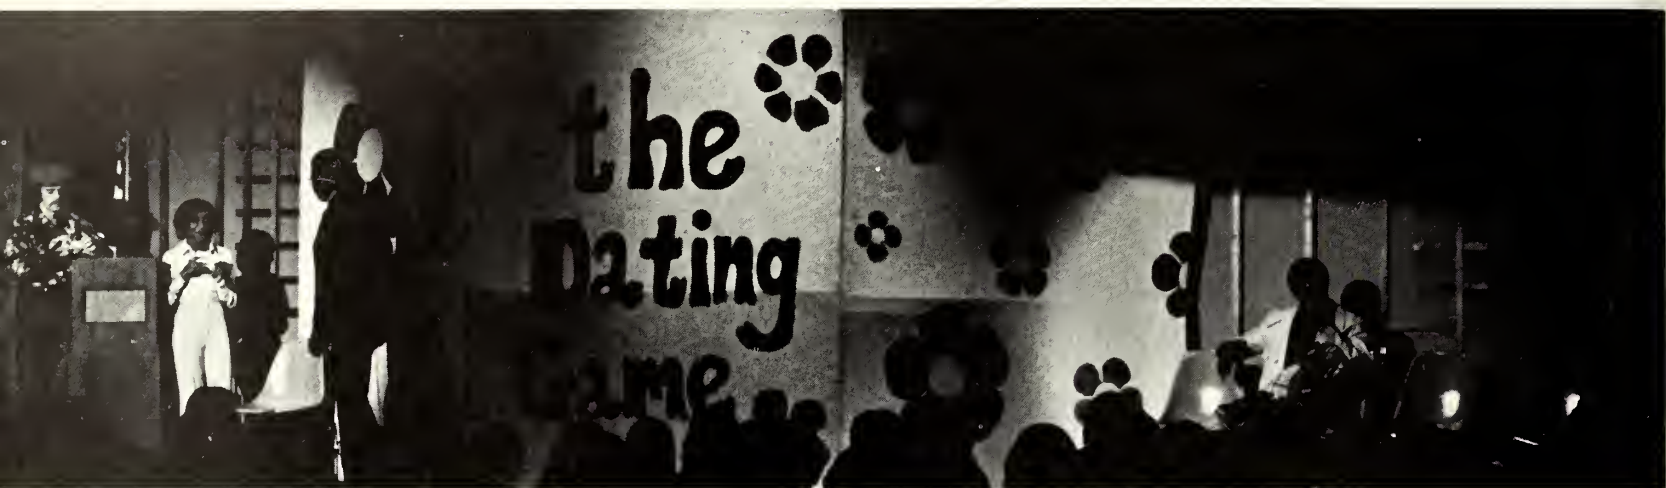

Best Of Theatre Presented By Phi Mu

The Phi Mu Playhouse presents the best of theatre to all Greeks. Awards were given to Fran Jumper for best actress, Garry Heath for best actor and the best play award went to the "Third Plate". The proceeds from the playhouse go to the hospital ship S.S. Hope which is now a land base operation.

Contestants Vie For A Night On The Town

Patterned after the television version of the "Dating Game," the Chi Omega Dating Game had representatives from every Greek organization as well as independents. All proceeds go to the School for the Deaf in Little Rock.

Whiz-bang Finish Has Coaches Looking Ahead

A whiz-bang finish and the loss of only one starter through graduation have Arkansas State University baseball coach J. A. "Ike" Tomlinson already looking forward to next season.

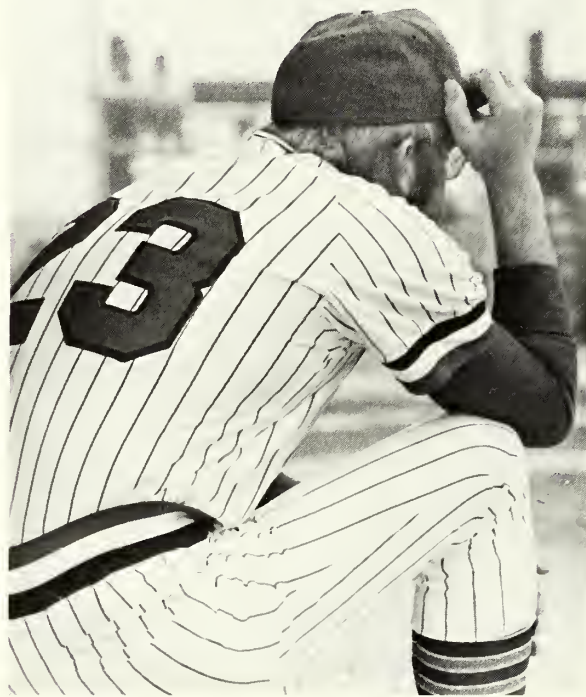

The ASU team took 11 of their last 16 games and finished the season with a 19-26 record.

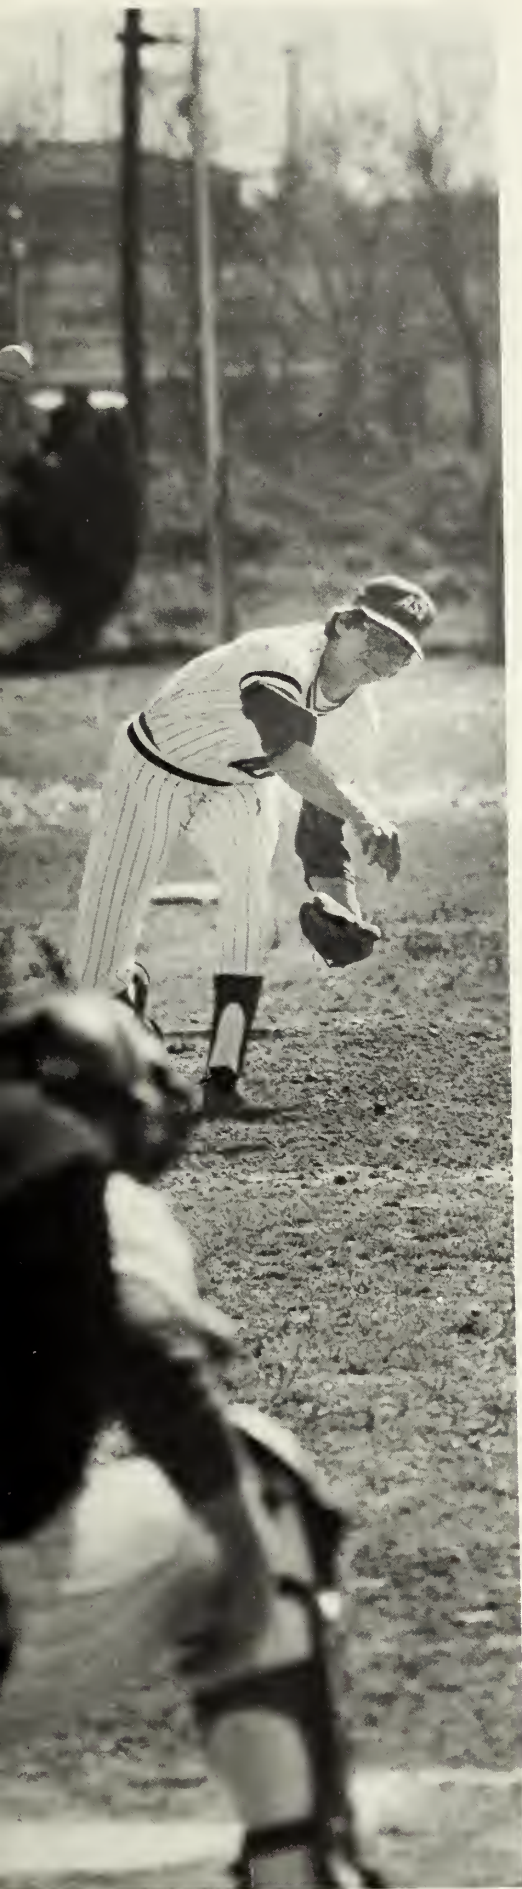

The finish was attributed to the improved hitting of the Indians, who finished the season with a .245 team batting percentage.

Larry Elmore took the ASU batting championship with a .326 average.

Change-up Floats In;
Umpire Feels The Cold

Gymnastics Team Takes Third

Concentrating on balance, flexibility, skill and form, the ASU gymnastics team placed third behind University of Arkansas and SCA in the state meet held last spring. During the year the team beat U of A at Little Rock, Southern State, Harding and ASU at Beebe. The gymnasts are coached by Bill Rogers.

Bowlers Get A Spare For The Season

The only tournament the team didn't place first was the the Association of College Union International Intercollegiate Games at Lafayette, La. In that tournament ASU came in fourth place.

The bowling team finished the season with two tournament championships, two third place trophies, three high game awards and three high series trophies.

Golfers Finish Last In Conference

With a six member team, the Arkansas State University golf team finished last in the conference competition.

Louisiana Tech finished one stroke ahead of the Indian golfers.

James Pate led the team with an individual average of 75.7 per round.

Four members of the team have averages that are under 80 strokes per round.

The team played in five other matches besides the conference competition.

Tennis Team Finishes Season With 14-12 Record

Although he wasn't seeded number one on the Arkansas State University tennis team, Jeff Hall led the Indian netters in the spring season with a 15-9 individual record.

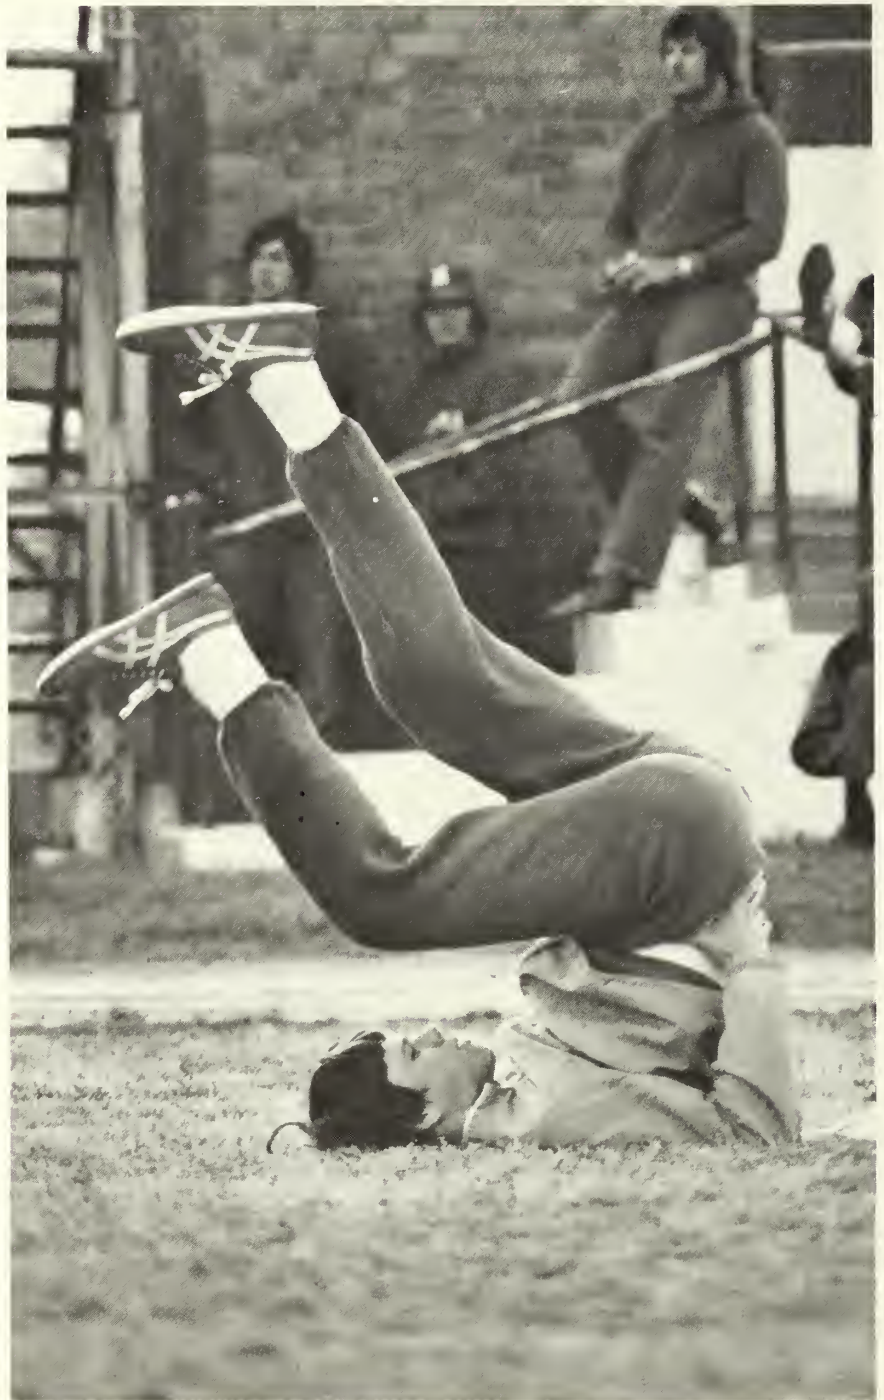

In conference competition, ASU finished fifth of the six teams that competed in the Southland Conference.

Ken Mitchell was the second leading individual with a record of 14 wins and nine losses. The team finished 14-12.

ABOVE: Jeff Hall finishes hitting the ball. Hall finished the season with a 15-9 record.

Vaulters Find Success

Individuals dominated the Arkansas State University track season in the spring.

Pole vaulters seemed to be the major focus of attention. Barney Hess tied the school record with a vault of 17 and one half feet. Earl Bell, only a freshman last spring, was showing a lot of potential.

Genard Medley tied the school record in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles with a time of 53 seconds.

In the triple jump, Kiven Williams tied the school record. Hess' vault and William's jump also set Arkansas collegiate records.

Kochel Directs Track Team

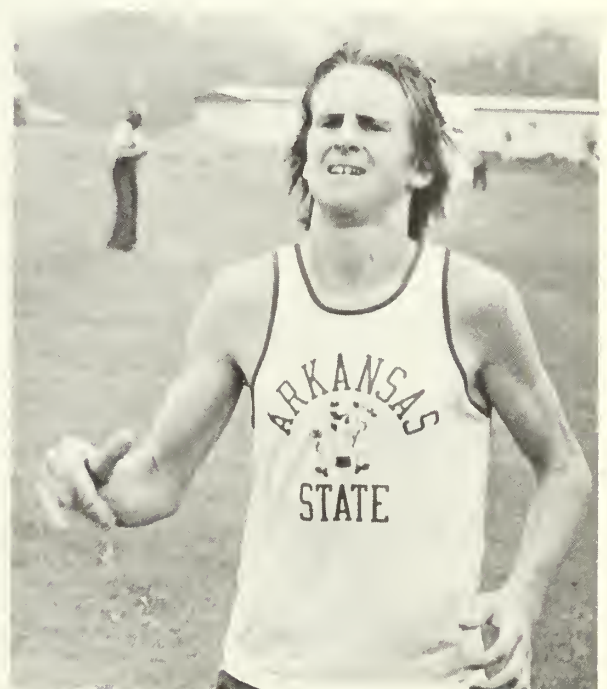

Burris Leads Cross Country

Darrell Burris turned out to be the strongest individual on the Arkansas State University cross country team. Burris won the dual meet with Harding College and placed second in the meet with Memphis State University.

As a team, ASU hosted two dual meets and won both of them.

In the conference, the ASU team finished fifth in a field of six.

Tribe Hits Road For Spring Games

Hitting the road, the Indians put on their second annual spring football road show in the form of Red-White games. The tribe traveled to different area high schools to show the fans of Northeast Arkansas what the team had in store for the coming fall season.

The purpose of the Red-White games is not only for the fans to get an idea of what to expect, but for the coaches to get their thoughts together on who will play where and what kind of potential the team has.

Spring games left ASU coaches optimistic. Head Coach Bill Davidson said that if the defensive unit didn't produce, it would be the fault of the coaches. The defense produced. Davidson also said that the offense would pass, but no one knows what happened to that idea.

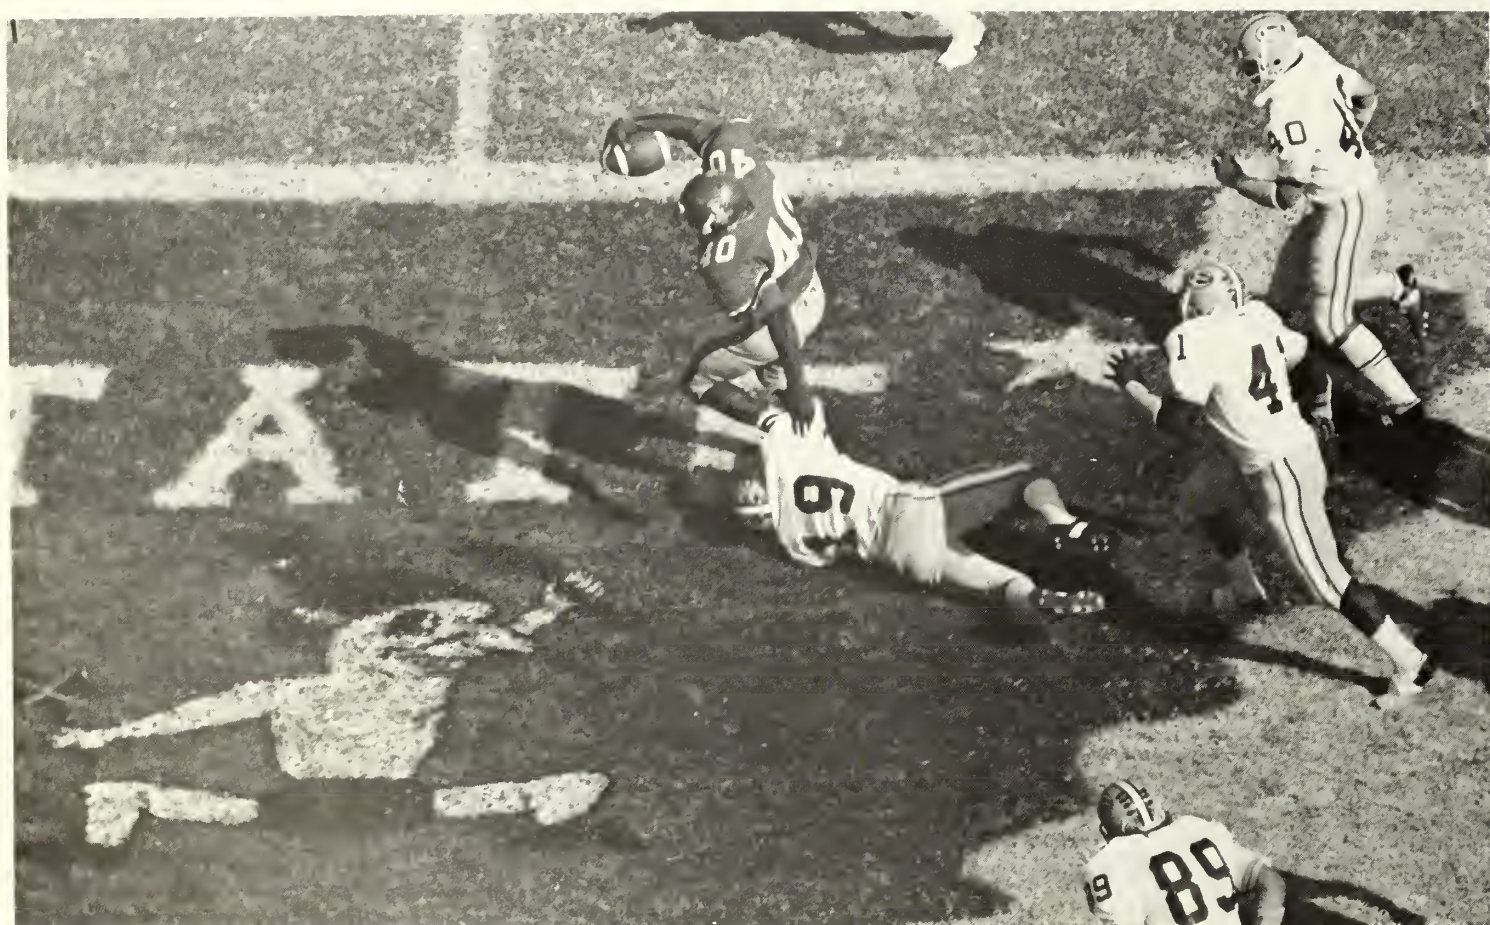

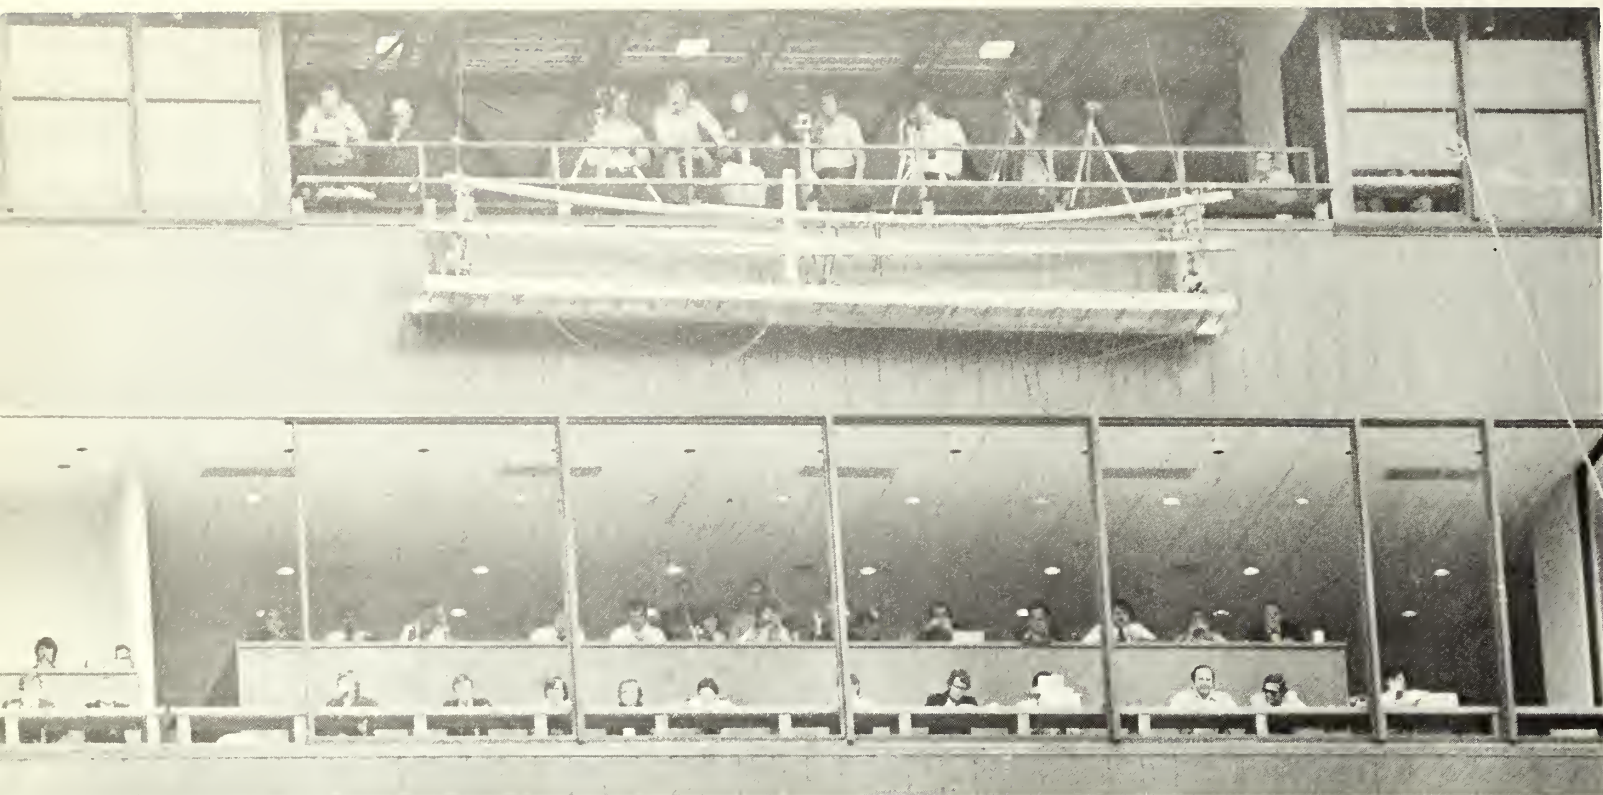

Indians Get More Time To Prepare

Lots of it is what can be said about the Indians' practices this fall. Due to the postponement of the Southwestern Louisiana game, the Tribe had eight weeks to get ready for the Louisiana Tech game.

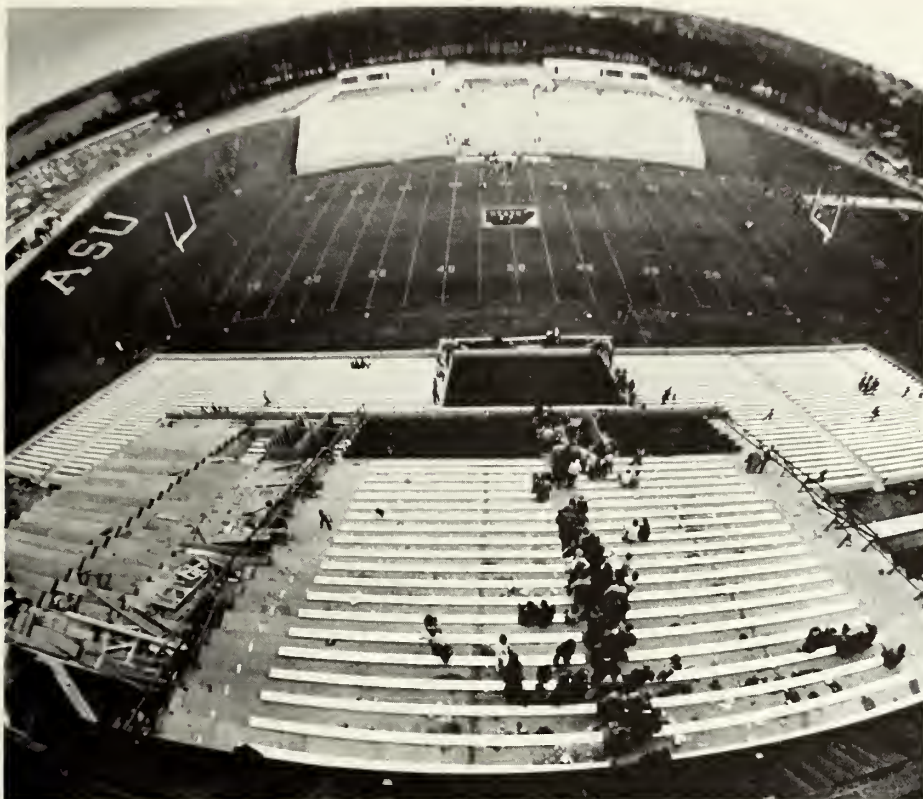

In the long run, the extra practices hurt the Indians, because they didn't get to make the first game mistakes and were forced to lay everything on the line in the first game of the season.

The Indians didn't seem to mind the extra practices before the game, but they knew that to have a great season they had to beat La. Tech.

New Era Fund Brings New Stadium

It wasn't quite finished when the Indians moved into the new stadium, but it still added the atmosphere of class to the football game.

The lights still aren't up, but Wrigley says that baseball is an afternoon sport and maybe the same is true of college football. At least the photographers seem to like the lighting situation in the daylight.

The most impressive thing about the stadium is the fact that it is big. Some of the crowds that attended the games would have been standing room only in the old Kays Stadium.

The prevailing southwesterly winds seemed to give the punters a little trouble, but ASU's punter Steve Burks seemed to make things average out, and well, with 39.8 yards per kick.

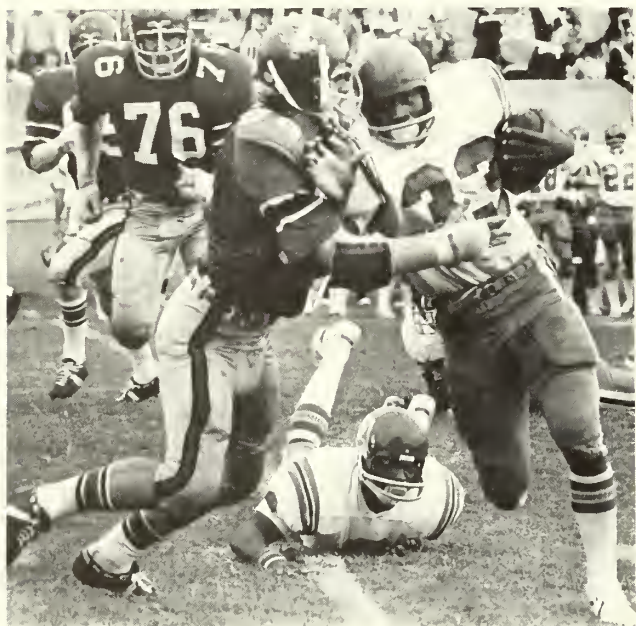

Jittery Opener Hurts

In the first half of the Indians' first game of the season, ASU couldn't get anything going and dropped behind 20-0 and couldn't manage to catch up with Louisiana Tech in the second half, losing 20-7.

To get rolling on offense in the second game against Eastern Michigan University, the Tribe tried a three fullback offense on some occasions. The result was an ASU 14-7 win.

Stan Winfrey and James Flynn led the Indians on two fourth quarter scoring drives to overcome a 7-0 deficit.

Burks Finds It Is A Game Of Distance

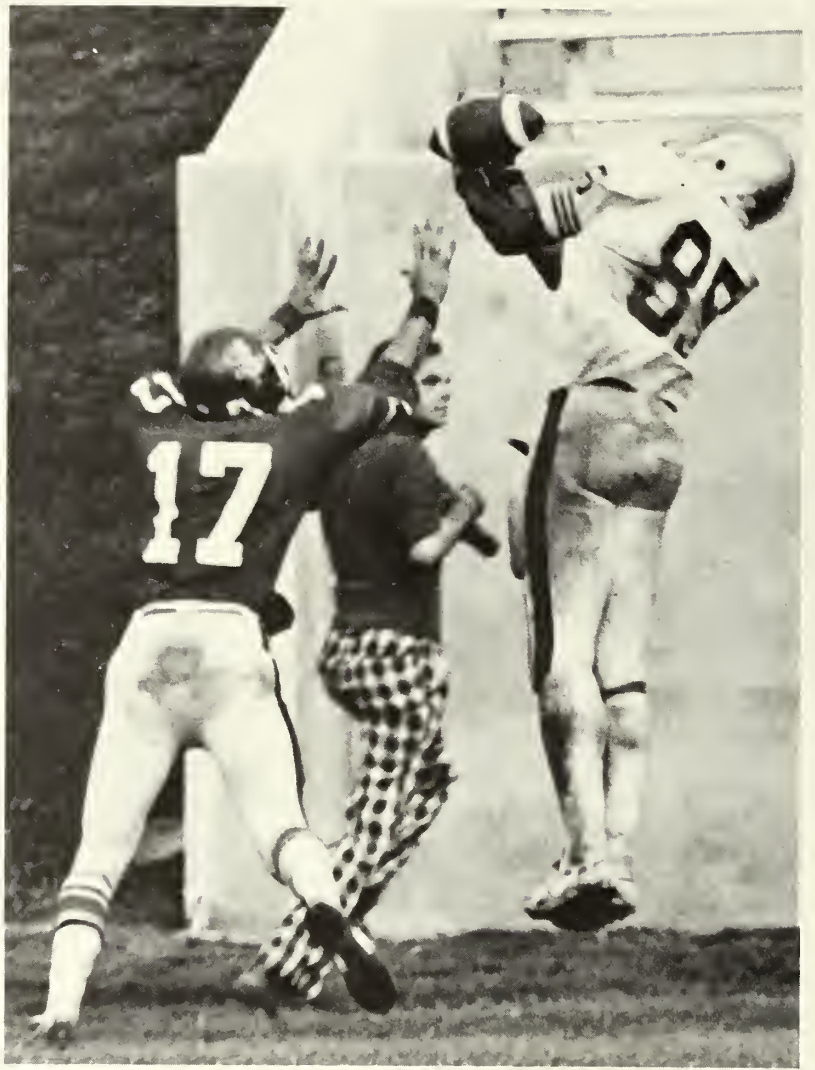

ASU Defeats ISU; Loses To Lamar

ASU grabbed a winning record at 2-1 for the first time in the season and began what seemed to become a tradition of scoring a lot of points on the road by downing Illinois State University 38-0 at Normal, Illinois.

Although Joe Duren put two field goals through the uprights and one established a school record 51-yarder, six points wasn't enough to win. Lamar's third string quarterback Al Rabb completed a long pass to Jabo Leonard with about two minutes remaining in the game to give the Cardinals a 10-6 win.

Some blamed it on the officials, but ASU missed some good scoring chances and really didn't have the offense.

ASU Tromps SIU Nips NEL At Home

ASU jumped into the winner's column again with a 3-2 record by rolling over another team while on the road. This time the victim was Southern Illinois University and the score was 41-14. SIU didn't score until the Indians sent the substitutes in on defense.

The next game was at home, and even though it was Homecoming and the spirits were suppose to be high, the Tribe couldn't generate an offensive attack. The Tribe did generate a 17-14 win over Northeast Louisiana, however.

Again it was Flynn leading the way, and ASU passed for more yardage than it rushed. The game went right down to the wire and the ASU fans weren't assured of a victory until Fred Coleman, NEL tight end, had a reception ruled out of bounds by the officials in the last minute of the ball game.

ASU Ends 7-3

Winning three of their last four games, the Indians upped the season record to 7-3, which is identical to last season's record.

ASU took on Bowling Green on the road and the result was ASU's first loss away from home, 17-0.

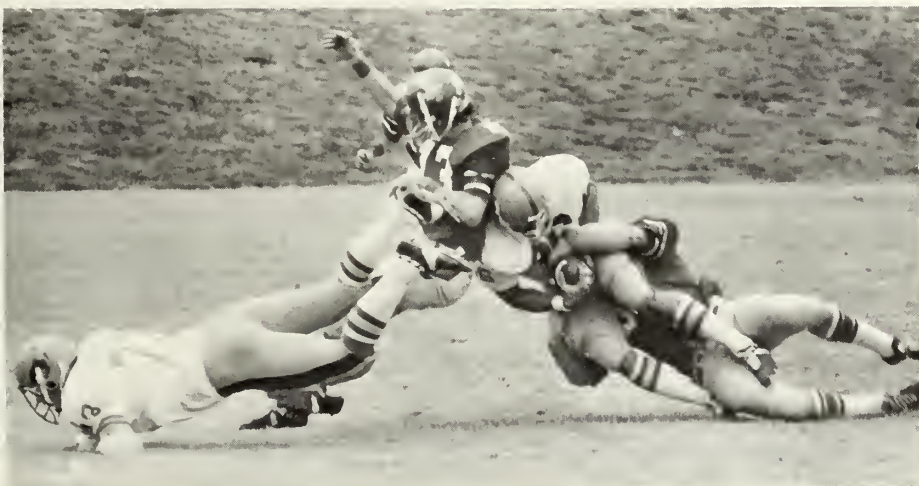

Next, the Tribe went to Arlington to play UTA. The Indians just rolled over their opponents. The score 42-12.

ASU's final home game of the season turned out to be the thriller of the season. Joe Duren ended up the hero.

Duren booted a 63-yard field goal in the first quarter against McNeese State. The field goal set the NCAA record and tied the pro record.

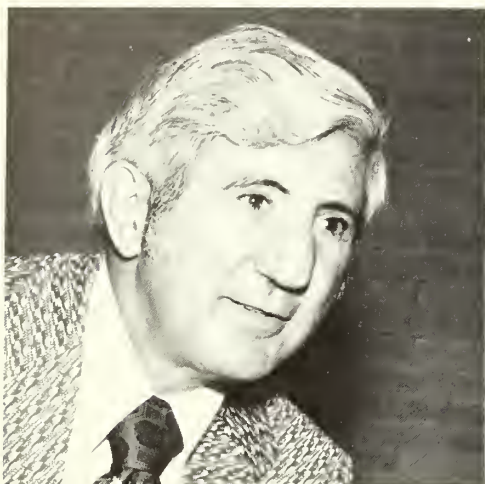

To make things even more exciting, Duren toed the ball 56 yards with zero showing on the clock to give ASU a 22-20 win.

The final game of the season was the rescheduled game with Southwestern Louisiana. The Tribe rolled over another road opponent. The score 28-6.

Inside,
Outside,
Defense And
All Around

Don Scaife Does It All

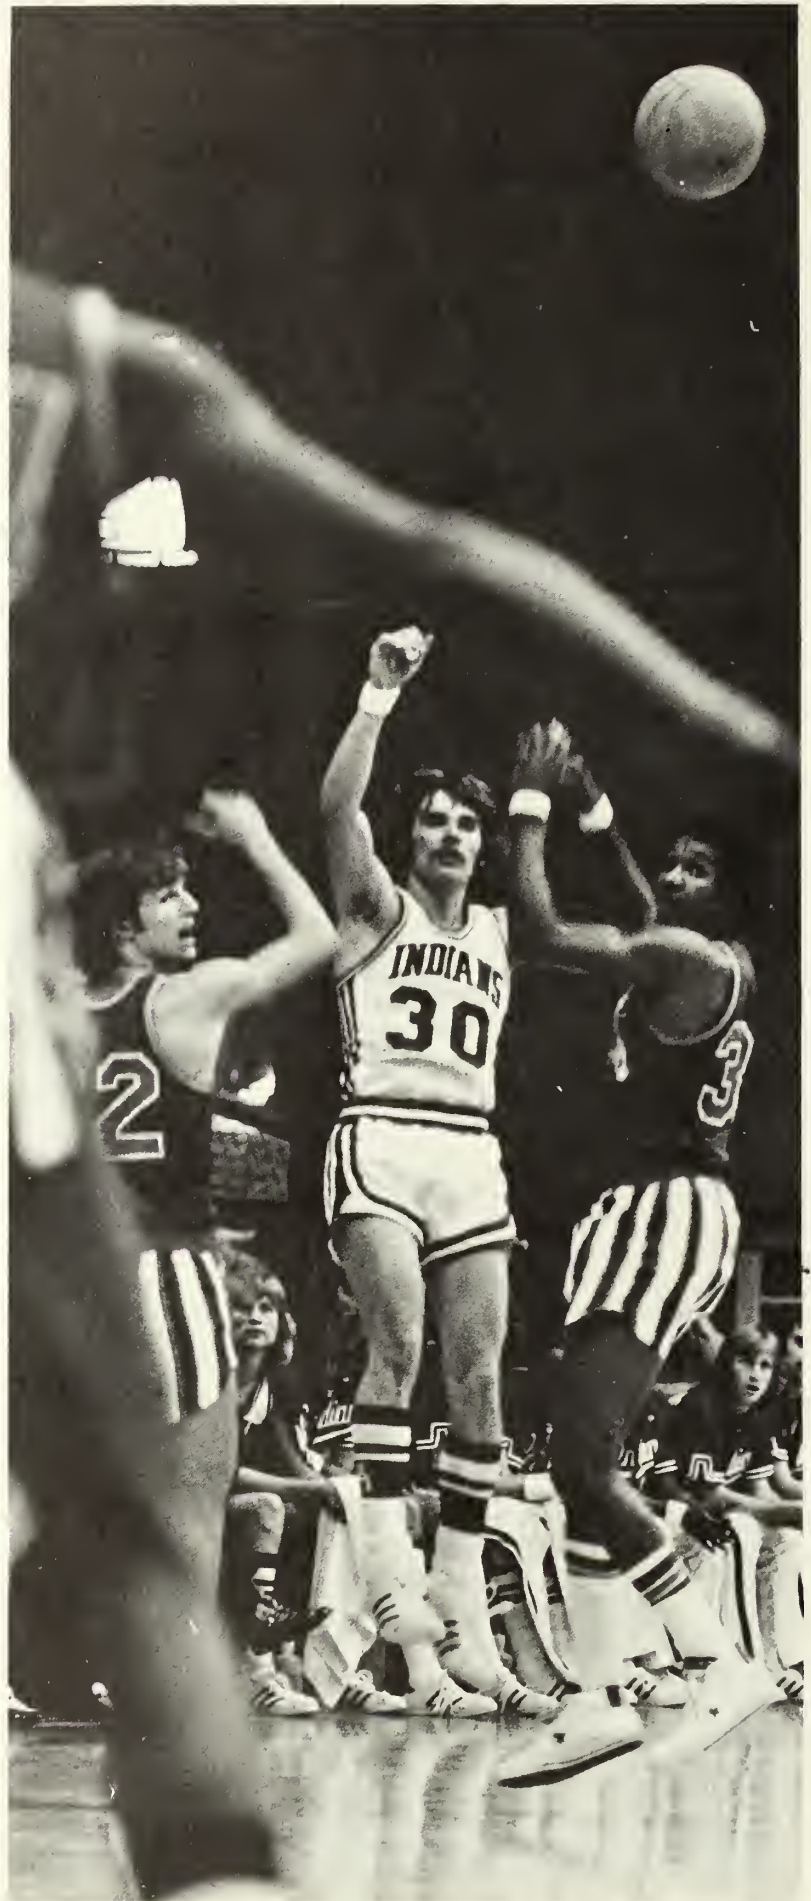

Stealing the ball and driving for a lay up is just one of the things that Don Scaife does well. Scaife can bomb in a 30-footer with the same perfection that most players can hit a 10-foot set shot.

Scaife's quickness has really paid off for the Indians this season. When the Tribe needs a steal, Scaife seems to be there making the play.

As a senior, Scaife has averaged about 26 points per game and stands in the top 10 in the nation in individual scoring.

J. H. Williams Makes Switch To Forward

Thinking and effort are the two areas in which J. H. Williams, a senior from Little Rock excels.

Taking a tumble into the bleachers to keep a ball from going out of bounds never bothered Williams.

Thinking isn't a big problem for Williams, because he does it on and off the court. Williams' grade point average is 3.7.

He made a switch this season. He had been a starting guard for the Indians, but with the appearance of Calvin Brawley, the Tribe went to a three guard offense. Now Williams' title is forward.

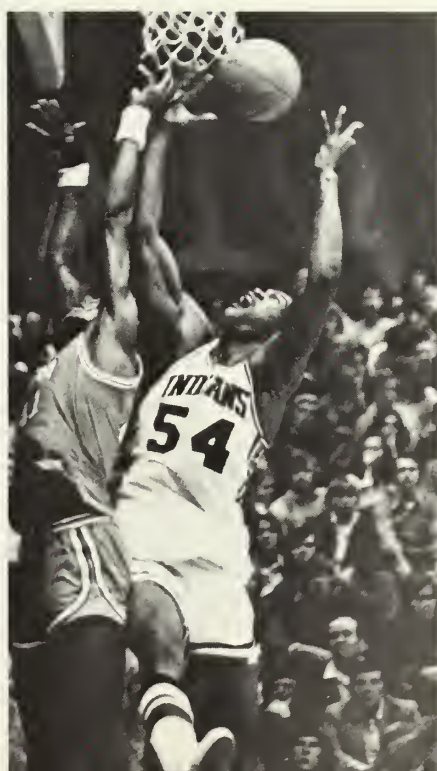

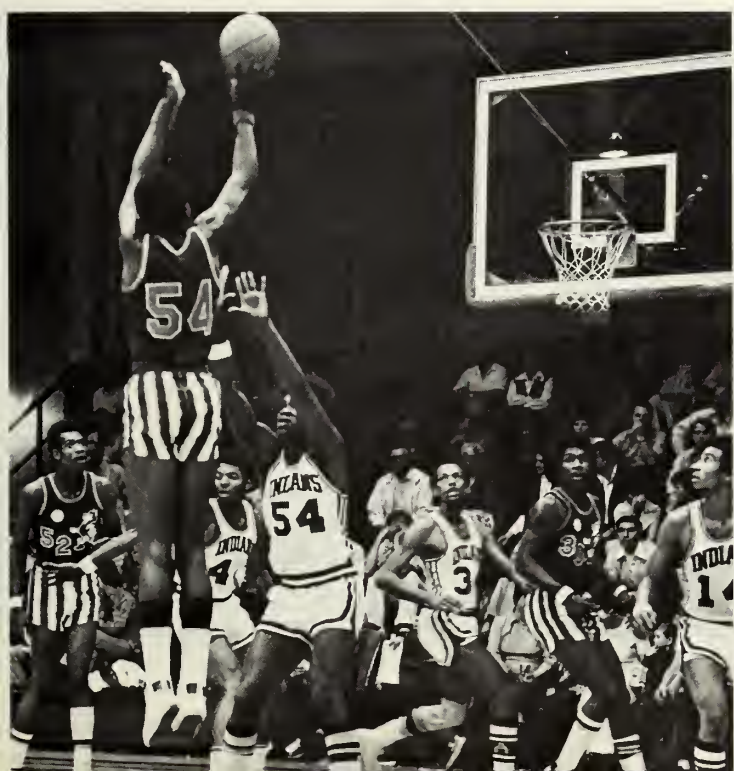

Henderson Answers Question

The big question mark for the 74-75 season was how to fill the shoes of Steve Brooks, who graduated last year leaving the Indians' center position open.

Dan Henderson, a sophomore, was chosen to fill the bill. Henderson is just 6-8, but it becomes apparent, when you watch him play, that he can jump with the tallest players.

Henderson may need to pick up his scoring average a little, but with two years left to play, he hasn't reached his peak.

Brawley Grabs Guard Spot

Calvin Brawley joined the ranks of the ASU Indian basketball team as a junior college transfer.

After warming the bench for a while, Brawley decided it was time that he came in and warmed up the Tribe's offense.

Spear-heading a three guard attack seemed to fit Brawley just right and Head Coach John Rose decided to keep it that way.

Brawley holds his own on defense. Not often do you see an opponent slip past Brawley.

Jemerson Wins Battle

During the beginning of the season, Stan Jemerson was battling with three other ASU players for the forward position.

Jemerson teamed together his experience and shooting ability to win the favor of Coach Rose and take the starting spot.

Jemerson excels in the hook shot.

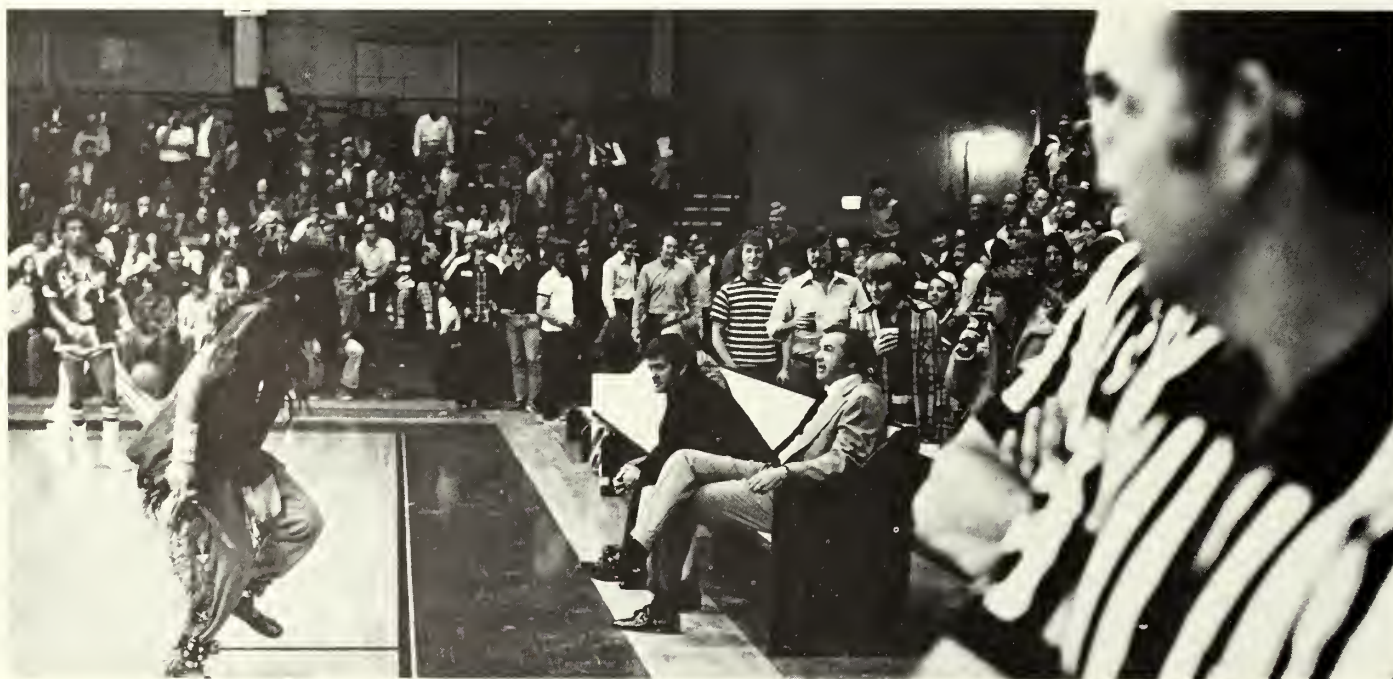

Tribe Starts With Big Bang But Fizzles

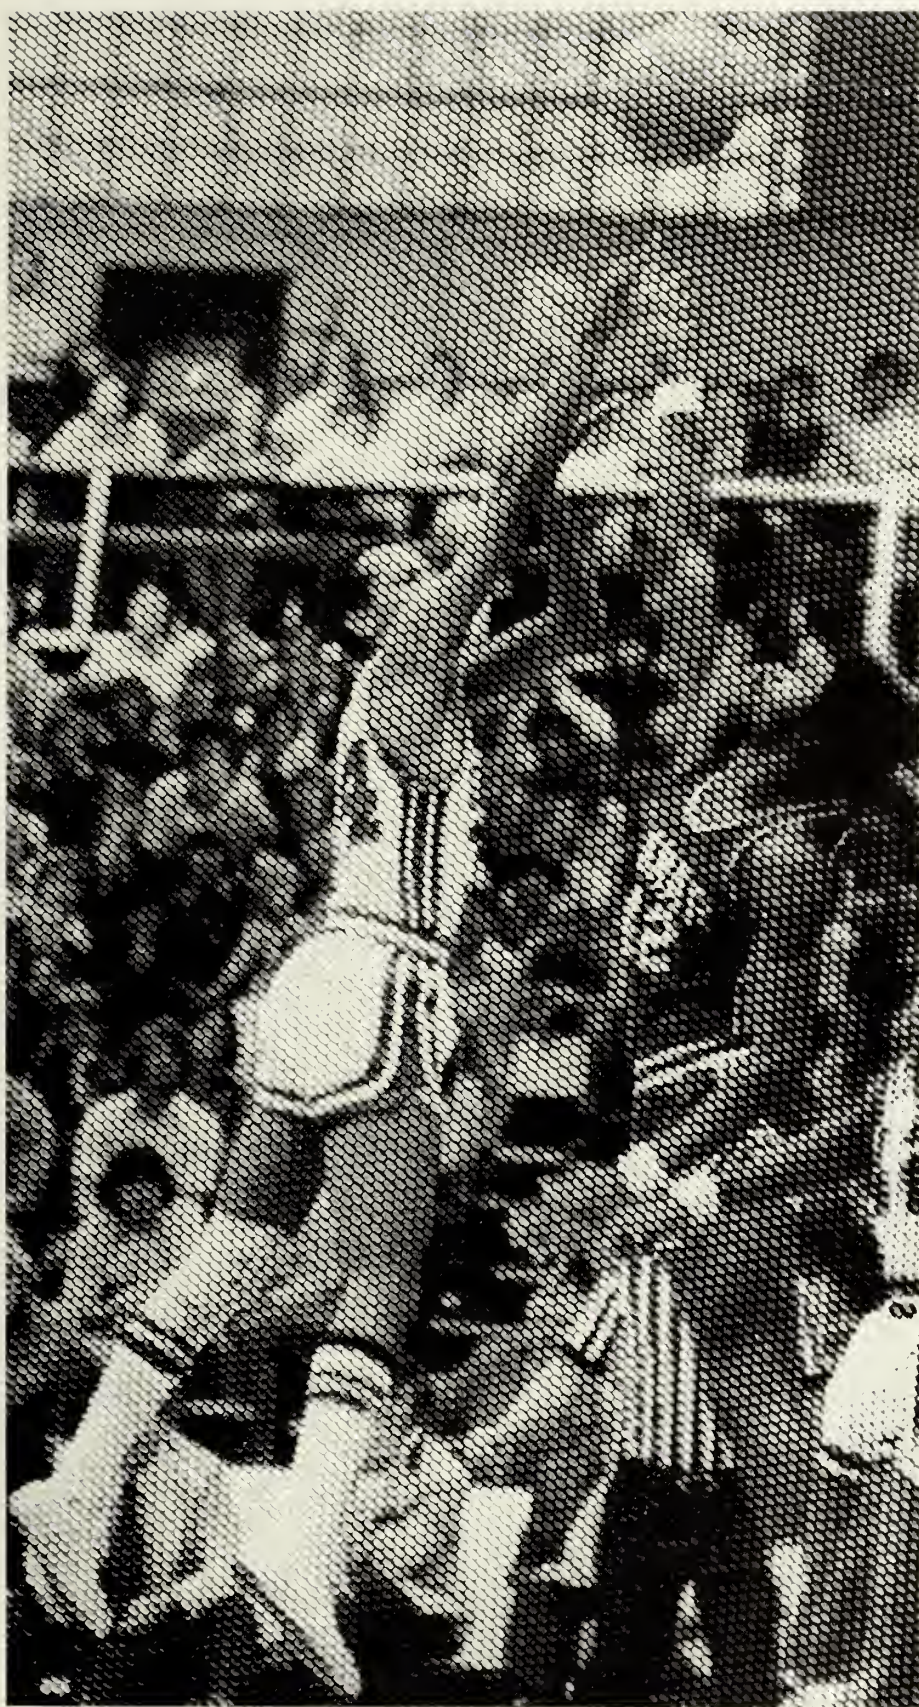

The bitter pain of losing Steve Brooks, who played center for the Indians last year, looked as if it wouldn't bother the Tribe, which started off the 74-75 season with a 3-0 record.

Then things started to go against the Indians. The Tulsa, Stetson and South Florida games along with others seemed to be just a little too much for A-State.

However, ASU still managed to sneak its way in the Southland Conference race with the best record of any league school.

The Indians proved unready for the conference competition and finished with a 3-5 SLC slate and a fourth place.

Women's Basketball Gets Start At ASU

Arkansas State University joined the ranks of most of the other colleges in Arkansas this year with the formation of a women's intercollegiate basketball team.

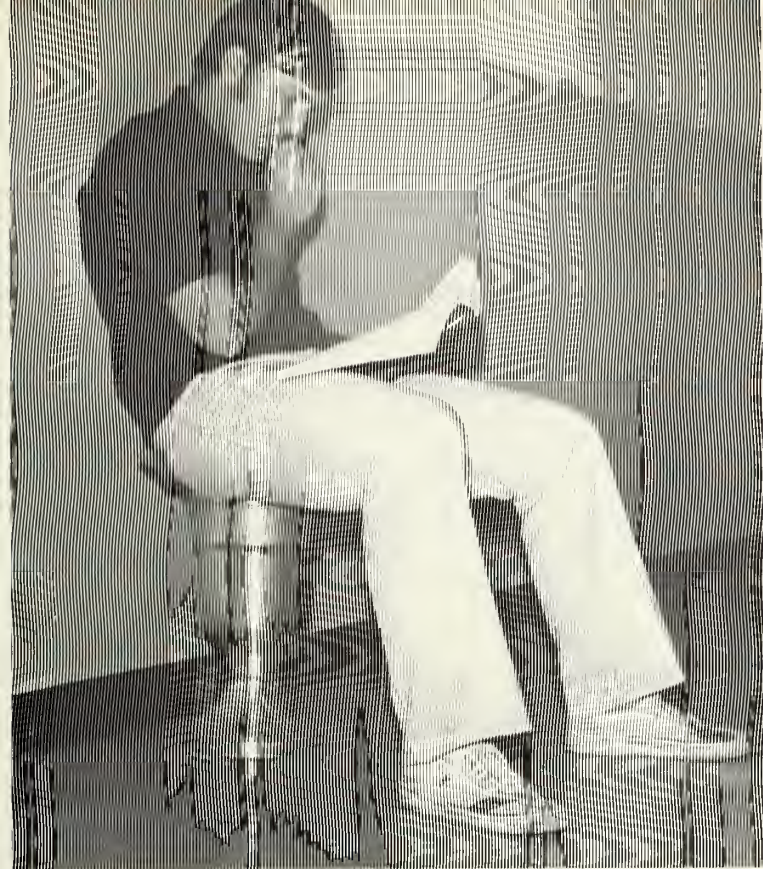

The squad, first ever at A-State, was coached by Donna Kay Woodiel, and was taken into the folds of the Arkansas Women's Intercollegiate Sports Association.

Although expectedly not too successful, the Tomahawks, as the women called themselves, fought to the bitter end in several tough losses, and did manage to win some contests.

The team only lost three seniors and has high hopes for the future.

ACADEMICS

The Buck Stops Here '75 INDIAN Dedicated To Reng

Dressed in the familiar dark trousers, freshly starched and ironed white shirt and tie, Dr. Carl R. Reng, President of the University, sat behind a polished-wood desk, which was laden with several official looking papers, a telephone and a sign like the one once occupying the desk of Harry Truman, "The Buck Stops Here," the sign reads.

Reared back in a cushioned, black leather highbacked executive chair, he gazed through the thick glasses and talked of his retirement and the years he has spent as ASU's chief executive.

"I accepted the position with a great deal of fear and hope, and as a real challenge," said Dr. Reng in his 23rd year as presidential administrator on the ASU campus.

. . . Dr. Reng said even though the University made much progress in the past 20 years, he regretted that it never seemed to have enough money to do all the things that needed done.

. . . "It takes all facets working together harmoniously to provide the facilities students need," Dr. Reng declared. He furthered the point by refusing to state any qualifications he hoped to see in his successor but attempted to give that individual one piece of advice.

"I would advise him to get the best administrative staff and faculty that can be found. It is much more than a one man job and the people who say they are self-made men are only kidding themselves, because they are made by the support and help of friends," he said.

In view of Dr. Reng's dedication to Arkansas State University, the 1975 INDIAN is proud to dedicate this book to him.

Board Names Pritchard To Succeed Reng

The naming of the new president was the main concern of the Board of Trustees. On January 12, 1974, a presidential search committee, composed of members from the administration, faculty, alumni and student body, was formed to review candidates to replace Dr. Carl R. Reng. Dr. Reng has served as president since 1951.

The fifteen member committee screened and rescreened 138 candidates. After the first screening the candidates were narrowed to 38 and from there the committee recommended six top candidates to the board. Interviews with each of the top candidates were conducted by the board.

By a 4 to 1 vote, the board approved the appointment of Dr. Ross Pritchard as Dr. Reng's successor. Pritchard has been president of Hood College in Frederick, Maryland, since 1971. His term as ASU president will begin August 1, 1975.

The ASU campus has been rapidly expanding over the last few years.

The nursing students were able to move into renovated State Hall at the beginning of the spring semester.

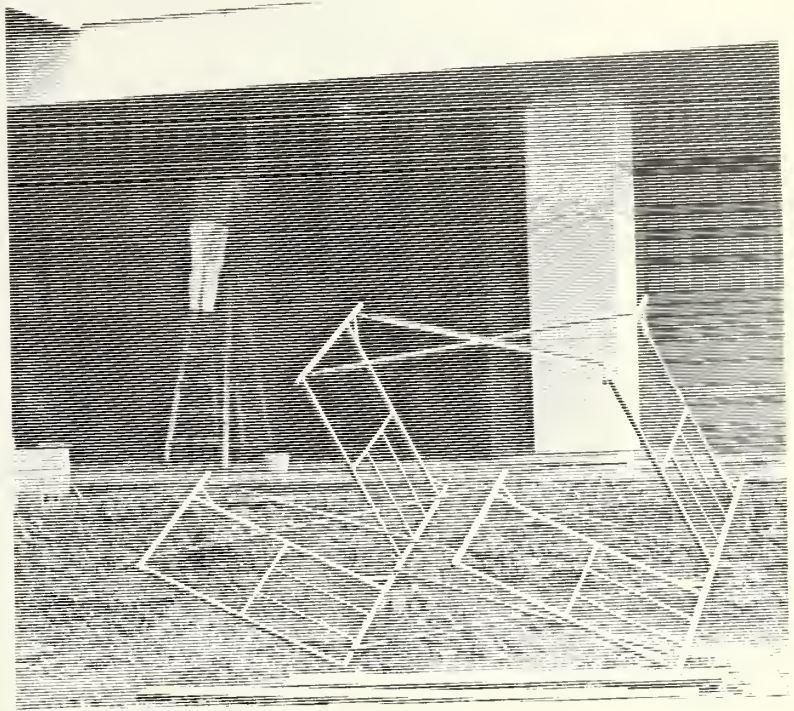

The new Agri building is to be finished sometime during the spring term. It is hoped the new P.E. complex will be ready to open by June 1.

Although some work was still being done to the new football stadium, it was near enough completion that the Indians were able to play their first home game in it.

The newest expansion project is a $4.5 million conversion of the library. The new complex will house an audio-visual center and give more room to the museum and library. The new complex is to be called a learning resource center.

New Buildings Are Continuing To Rise

Agri Complex Nears Completion

During the spring semester of 1975, the College of Agriculture will move into their new building complex. The complex includes a greenhouse which will enable students to practice the art of horticulture.

This year the ASU Rodeo Club participated in the Inter-Collegiate Rodeo Association's regional event. Members of the club are interested in putting on a rodeo, to increase student support of the club and the events. Dr. Olen P. Nail is dean of the College of Agriculture.

Community Courses Offered By College

The College of Business is offering several specialized community interest courses to the public during the spring semester.

The college has installed 24 new calculators in the stat class. They have also provided individualized instruction for those taking shorthand.

Dr. B. C. McGough (right) dean of the College of Business said that the new four-year baccalaureate program was successful and hopes to continue offering new programs.

All students majoring in radio-television take advanced radio practice which supplies them with the opportunity to work at KASU. The more advanced student is eligible to apply for a paid position on the KASU staff.

Renovation of the Radio-TV Building facilities are underway. The ten offices vacated by nursing are being expanded into class and lab areas.

HERALD Wins Top Honors

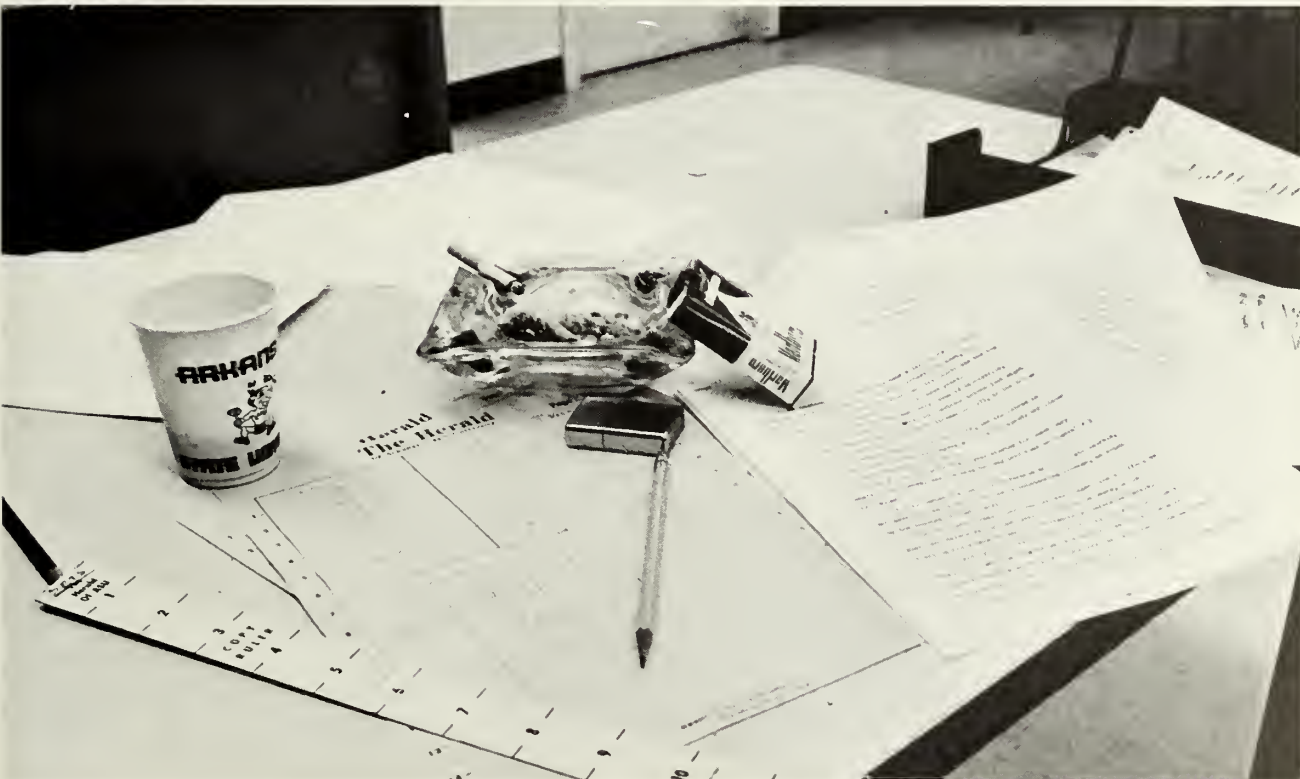

This year, for the first time, the Herald of ASU, the official student newspaper, was published three times a week. The Herald issues were published on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

The Herald has been named to top honors in the Associated Collegiate Press competition. It received two consecutive All-American honors with marks of distinction in several areas.

In Region Eight of the Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi, the Herald won top honors in the Mark of Excellence competition.

The Herald serves as a laboratory experience for journalism students.

Physical Education Complex To Open

Several new programs were offered by the College of Education in 1974. One of these new programs is designed to speed the student's reading ability, with reading classes held in Dixie Hall.

A master's degree in speech pathology and one in emotional disturbances is being offered by the college for the first time.

Costing approximately $3 million, the new physical education complex will be opened in the fall of 1975. The complex includes such areas as an indoor swimming pool, two basketball courts, four handball courts, sauna baths, offices and classrooms.

College Expands Learning Programs

The College of Liberal Arts provides more than half of the basic education requirements for all degree programs.

Dr. Clyde Jones (left) dean of the College of Liberal Arts says the college hopes to offer a B.A. in Social Work next fall. This year they are offering a new masters degree in Political Science and a B.A. degree in Criminology.

This year the language department sponsored a Foreign Language Festival. It lasted one day and high school students from the Northeast Arkansas area participated.

College Begins Recruiting Efforts

The College of Science prepares students for new and current career fields. To acquaint high school seniors with the College of Science, approximately 2,000 college and divisional letters were mailed to high school seniors.

In April, the Division sponsored the second annual Mathematics and Science Contest for high school students. The students came to the ASU campus and engaged in contests covering algebra, geometry, trig., physics and chemistry.

Dr. James H. Stevenson (left), dean of the college, hopes that these recruiting efforts will increase both the undergraduate and graduate enrollment.

The Division of Nursing is now occupying renovated State Hall. The building is complete with offices, classrooms and laboratories.

Nursing students now can participate in a four-year program and receive a Bachelor of Nursing degree, or they can go only two years and receive an Associate in Applied Science degree.

Dr. Adelma Mooth, Dean of the Nursing Division is well pleased with the new programs.

Division Has Mobile Classroom

Float trips, parades, rifle matches, donating blood and many other projects are all part of the Division of Military Science.

The Mark Twain Forest in Missouri was the site of a canoe trip the ROTC cadets took. They went 2½ miles down the Eleven Point River. The University contributed three canoes and a canoe trailer to the Division. The mobile classroom has covered 130 miles in six trips in Arkansas and Missouri, with more trips planned.

The ASU Rifle team competed in shooting matches throughout the year. Each member receives a minor sport letter.

The Division also helped within the community. The different drill units marched in parades and gave demonstration at various functions. The cadets also donated over forty pints of blood on a strictly voluntary basis.

Graduate School Increases Off Campus Plan

This past July, the state board of higher education approved Arkansas State to offer an M.A. degree in political science.

The graduate school has also increased its off campus programs in the community colleges. Additions are three classes at Phillips Community College, and one class at Eastern Arkansas Community College. The idea is to take the education to the graduate students, rather than make them come to the education. To encourage full time graduate study, six graduate fellowships of $300 were offered. At right, dean of the school, Dr. Eugene Smith.

CLASSES

In the following section different people were asked to give their views of some facet of ASU . . . its students, professors, changes, etc. The topics were left entirely to the writer in order to get a variation. A cross-section of people were asked to write; some refused because of reasons such as putting their jobs in jeopardy, teachers disapproval, time factors and so on. The INDIAN would like to thank those who cooperated in making this section.

People Speak Out On ASU

Has the word University lost its meaning? What is a University? What should it be? Should it be a business operated for profit or should it be a recreation center for young people who want to escape from home?

Why are my fellow students bored with class, tired of studying, indifferent to learning and seemingly concerned only with escaping from the main purpose which brings them here? Is it inadequate teaching which makes the student indifferent? Is it inadequate intelligence on the part of the student, or is it a youthful urge to be free which sends the student away from books and lectures to kill his time with worthless activities?

Perhaps it is a combination of all three.

MANOCHEHR NOURI

Unlike most "scholarly" college students, I've had the most fulfilling pleasure of "cramming" four years of undergraduate work into almost five. There are many pros and cons in doing such a feat. The cons are obvious. The longer it takes one to graduate, the longer it takes one to reap the profits of a promising profession. The pros however, are Fantastic. Twelve hours a semester, Budweiser, sleeping through 8:00 classes, Spanada, sitting in class with all those lovely ladies, concerts, ballgames, parties, spring breaks in Florida and I could go on, but if I did, I would probably try to stay here another five years!

One also sees many changes when he tries "so hurriedly" to get his degree. In my case, the changes are many. And in my opinion, much for the better. When I started to college here in the fall of 1968, it was almost like enlisting in the Army. ROTC was a mandatory course. How embarrassing it was, because of the hair regulation, to run around campus looking like you had just come out of the Foreign Legion's boot camp. It was not however, as bad as the freshman football players free hair styling. Can you imagine 30 Telly Savalases running around on campus? There was no intervisitation, or at least there wasn't supposed to be any. The girl's dorm hours were 9:00 Monday-Thursday, 11:00 Friday and Saturday, and on Sundays they had until 10:00 before they turned into a pumpkin. There were no CLEP tests, thank goodness, or else I might have made it in four years. There were grade point requirements to pledge a Greek fraternity. Football was devastating to our opposition; three straight SLC crowns 68,69,70; two Mid-Western crowns 69,70; and a National Champion, AP and UPI in 1970. They were playing in a stadium that looked like a high school stadium. At the start of the Spring 71 semester I took a little break (two years with the Marine Corps) and then returned to ASU and back to the good life, where I spent the next two years as a Greek.

Since I've returned I've found CLEP tests, intervisitation, no dorm hours, voluntary ROTC, long hair, beards, black Greek organizations, a new football stadium and a year of independent student government and finally the hiring of a new University president. Lets hope we can grow under Dr. Pritchard as much as we have under the direction of Dr. Reng. Yes, the changes are many, however, I believe that most of them are most influential to the character of a growing university.

MICHAEL WILLIAMS

The quality of education is not strained— but maybe it should be.

It seems that the world of higher academics is extremely lax in many of its standards. As a result, students are being graduated holding a sheepskin representing a head practically devoid of knowledge.

Starting with student revolts in the 60's that demanded everything from a solution for Viet Nam to liberalized dress codes, education has declined along with concessions made by administration to rioting mobs.

For example, entrance exam standards now allow practically anyone to enter a state supported institution of education.

Professors, too, must give in to the whims of a student mass, with precedent made by those years of turmoil. Teachers must also consider the administration they work for to save their jobs. Faculty members now teach courses specifically designed for recruiting people from surrounding communities. All for those few extra dollars given by the state for each student head.

It is time to ask ourselves what is needed for self improvement in educational values.

As examples show, no truly great university is ruled in a democratic way. It is well and good that students are consulted in matters concerning them, however, maybe a young opinion is not necessarily the voice to dictate the best way.

Students are in school to learn— to be taught by those who are qualified in knowledge. Students simply do not know as much as their professors. And if they do know more than their professors, it must be a school in sad shape to employ them.

Discipline is needed by the student and faculty alike. Administration should stop bowing to unqualified demands put on them by students and rise to the task of creating a school system worthy of producing scholars.

No college, including Arkansas State University, should be a social extension of high school standards. The democratic system has been tried and has failed. It is time to get out the strainer and start sifting out some of the debris.

DENICE GRADY

In the following section different people were asked to give their views of some facet of ASU . . . its students, professors, changes, etc. The topics were left entirely to the writer in order to get a variation. A cross-section of people were asked to write; some refused because of reasons such as putting their jobs in jeopardy, teachers disapproval, time factors and so on. The INDIAN would like to thank those who cooperated in making this section.

People Speak Out On ASU

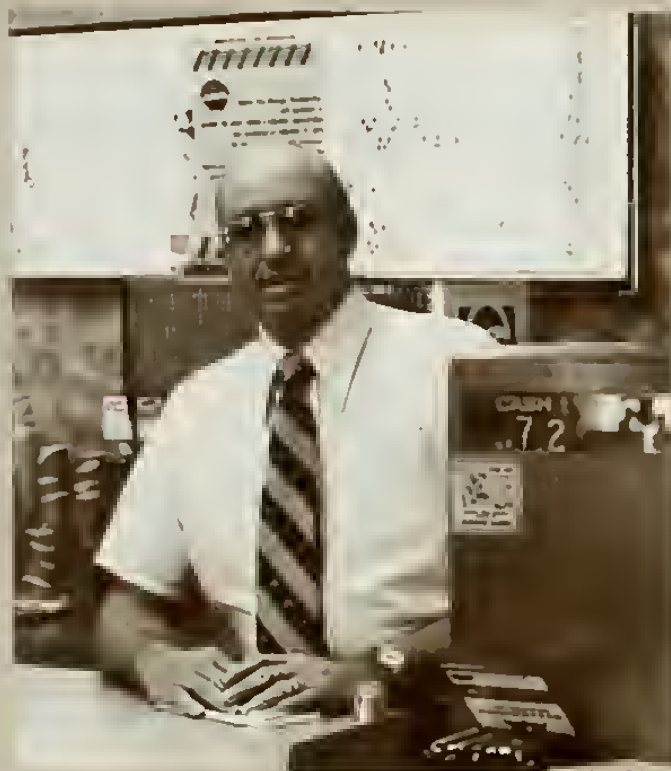

Has the word University lost its meaning? What is a University? What should it be? Should it be a business operated for profit or should it be a recreation center for young people who want to escape from home?

Why are my fellow students bored with class, tired of studying, indifferent to learning and seemingly concerned only with escaping from the main purpose which brings them here? Is it inadequate teaching which makes the student indifferent? Is it inadequate intelligence on the part of the student, or is it a youthful urge to be free which sends the student away from books and lectures to kill his time with worthless activities?

Perhaps it is a combination of all three.

MANOCHEHR NOURI

Many people would call the students at Arkansas State the leaders of tomorrow. I believe they are also the leaders of today. Through the projects the various individuals and groups on the campus participate in, I have seen the concern which these people express for their fellow men and women. That, in my opinion, is the greatest work any man can do: helping other people. After the students leave our community they will carry this spirit with them. The knowledge they have acquired in and out of the classroom will enable them to progress to a higher level of accomplishment for themselves and for those with whom they come in contact. Through my contact with the ASU student body I have seen people who are interested in every imaginable profession, but I have also seen in these same people a common concern and respect for others . . . and I think it's great.

DAYDREAMING

Why am I here?
What does it mean?
What does what mean?
Being here
The University
Is it parties, dormitory life, girls, dates, cars, beer, pot, football games, fun killing time?
Escape from home?
Escape from responsibility?
Responsibility. . .!
What is responsibility?
Responsibility to what?
Why don't I feel responsible?
Why don't I feel anything?
What am I missing?
Why am I confused?
Have I missed the point?
What is the point?
Do my teachers tell me?
Do my books tell me?
Should I know it by myself?
Here I am in class. . .
Am I in class?
Is that boy in class?
Where are our thoughts?
Are we waiting for the bell?
Is the teacher waiting for the bell?
Are we waiting for the teacher to shut up?
Slam the notebook shut!
Put on your coat!
Run like hell and get out of here.

Outside!
Freedom!
This dumb library drives me crazy.
I'm sick of this damn book.
Turn off the Xerox machine!
Too many phones ringing.
Look at that girl. I wonder. . .
I've been here almost an hour.
What can I do tonight?
I wonder if I'll get that check from home?
This place is really driving me crazy!
Let's get some fresh air.
Outside at last
Freedom!

Turn the stereo down. . .
I have a test tomorrow.
Why?
Why bother
Why do I need to read this book?
What are these words to me?
Slam the book shut!
Turn up the stereo!
Freedom!
Is it freedom?
Freedom from what?
Freedom from responsibility?
Who is responsible that I don't feel responsible.

Emphasis is beginning to be placed on women and women's roles in society in areas other than homemaking. If this is to continue and women are going to develop their potential in all areas, they must make wise choices and be willing to assume full responsibility for their actions. The women enrolled at Arkansas State University can be no exception. Women make up 47% of the student body; 19.4% of the instructional staff holding academic rank; and 100% of the secretarial staff. The input they have in the policies affecting them will be determined by how willing they are to speak for themselves; how hard they will be willing to work, and how much responsibility they want to assume. The time is past when we can say "Let Susie do it." Every segment of the university community must make decisions for themselves based on factual information and then act on these decisions.

Fraternities and sororities on this campus are often thought of as being elite social cliques. In fact, during the past few years the Greek system has been criticized immensely. Although justifications may be made for the criticisms, Greek life presents some very good opportunities to its participants.

There is truth in the statement that you "Get just as much out of something as you put into it," and the Greek societies do put quite a bit of effort into numerous activities. Greeks are very active in the student government organization, intramurals, local beauty pageants, along with many community sponsored functions. The Greek displays built for Homecoming festivities every year, are a welcome sight to alumni as well as being a pleasant and enjoyable effort of the students. Who else but a Greek would stay up all night building a display, just to be able to cut class the next day? Actually, football season seems to bring out the best in a Greek. During what other time of year do you see so many original slogans and works of art pasted all over campus to boost the morale of the football team?

To often Greeks are accused of being a group of thoughtless students who care about nothing but the next big party they're going to attend. This may be true of the Greek system on some campuses, but not on this one. The Greek organizations on the ASU campus are all organizations any student should be proud to join. Each Greek society at ASU sponsors its own annual charity drive, as well as holding benefit shows for charity, toy drives, holiday parties for underprivileged children and donating food and clothing to the needy. A Greek society is indeed a beneficial source for many charities.

Having been a Greek myself, I feel that a Greek background lends a great deal to good future development in any community. Greeks learn to function within a group in much the same way that persons must learn to function within a community.

A Greek society is a very strong, enjoyable segment of college life at Arkansas State University.

To wear the crown of royalty is what every girl dreams of at least once in her lifetime. When she has experienced this, it is like a goal she has waited so long to achieve. But to be crowned the first black Homecoming queen at a predominantly white university is the greatest. I believe that any woman, black or white, would consider it a great honor to represent their college at this time. It means so much to a woman to have her pride built up in this way. Then too, it means so much to a black person to have accomplished so large a step. Arkansas State University's 1974 Homecoming may not have been the ideal Homecoming, but for the blacks "it was a dream come true." It was a time when we too could stand up and be counted. Possibly, if everyone had prepared themselves years ago that this could happen, there wouldn't have been such a confusion. There are some people liberal enough in their beliefs to know that for the future of ASU to be a bright one, there has to be a change. On the other hand, there are those who seem to be too conservative and established to believe that there has to be a change. My mother and father taught me to believe that man was equal, it didn't matter if the color of his skin happened to be black, white, or yellow. When I wore that crown on Homecoming day, I felt I was representing the entire university. It was the most beautiful moment in my life. The weight of the crown was one of pride and joy for my race and my school. The thanks goes to many, black and white.

MARILYN BROADWAY

Where is the Student Government at ASU going? In the time I have spent here I have not seen it go much of anywhere. This is not to say that accomplishments have not been made, but rather that each administration, whether USA or ISL, has done little to alter the image of futility the SGA has. Anyone who has attended any SGA meeting as a senator or just as a bystander has found himself frustrated with the lack of organization and cooperation among the members. Student activities have gone from decent to nonexistent in recent semesters because the administration had not seen fit to provide adequate money for even a single concert that would bring the people to make them successful. The point is not to predict a dim future nor to begrudge the past, but rather to call for a new SGA. The next years will be the beginning of change for ASU. The SGA should set the trend for this change and change with our school to become a unified body of select students acting for all students.

DICKIE ROSS

We have come a long way from a one-man "door-shaker" to a staff that includes 14 officers and a full time secretary. The department is continually growing and improving that we may better serve our school. We, the personnel of Campus Security, pledge our continued efforts and support to ASU so that it may become a stronger University each year.

Many changes have taken place at ASU in the past few years. The physical changes have been many and are most obvious. However, the changes in student attitudes during the past half a dozen years have been very interesting and are most important in evaluating the educational process.

Modes of grooming have changed quickly. There has been no record in recent years which has generated so much negative comment as the male student with long hair. This made them automatic behaviour problems in the view of teachers, businessmen and police, and created much tension in the family.

Modes of dress have varied from the mini to ankle length. Overalls have become common attire for both men and women. Men are wearing high heel shoes and women sport platform shoes. It is not uncommon to see students barefooted and dressed in a wide variety of faded jeans and grubies of every type.

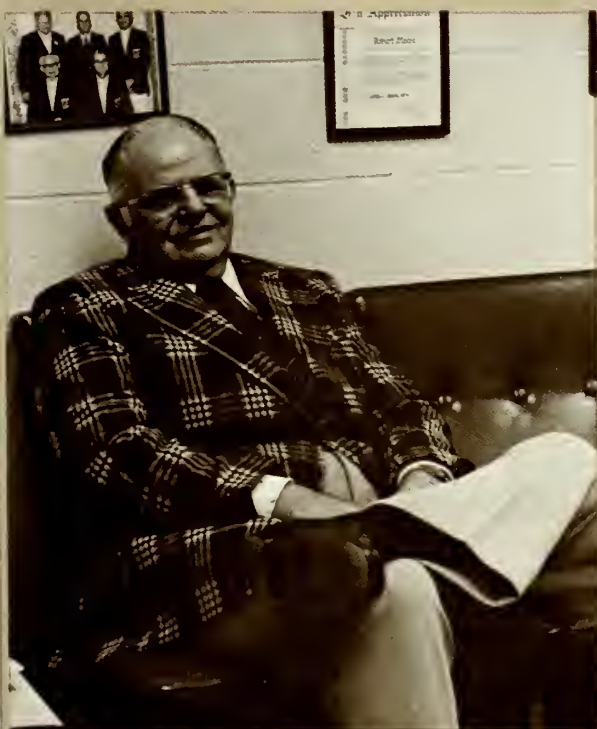

Life styles have changed as many students have deserted the residence halls for off-campus apartments and trailers. Intervisitation has become a reality in men's residence halls and self-selected hours are allowed in women's residence halls.

ASU students share the universal desire to have some input into the decisions which affect them and the expenditures of funds which has been provided in part by them. Two students served on the Presidential Search Committee and represented the student point of view very well.

The area of race relations is one where students have made great strides. Black and white students have established lines of communication. Black Greek organizations have been formed to provide an area of involvement for black students.

We have seen sit-ins, kneel-ins and protests of many kinds. These involved a very small percentage of the students. We have nothing to fear from this generation of students. They know their rights and insist upon getting a fair shake in the classroom and in out-of-class activities. All of us could make a contribution to the educational process by doing a great deal of listening and displaying compassion and integrity in our dealings with students.

Dr. Ross Pritchard (center) listens as Phil Hout, chairman of the Board of Trustees, reads the terms of the presidential contract. At left is Mike Beebe, board secretary.

Pritchard Named As Reng's Successor

Term Begins August 1, 1975

Dr. Ross J. Pritchard, president of Hood College at Frederick, Md., was named Jan. 10 to become the fifth president of ASU, succeeding Dr. Carl R. Reng.

Although Pritchard won praise for the changes he instituted at Hood College, he said that he has no fixed ideas of what changes might be needed at ASU.

"I have no magic formula to make this place over in a new image," Dr. Pritchard said. "Any thought that August 1 is going to be met by an invasion of me meat-axing people right and left is completely inaccurate. A heckuva lot of people must have been doing a heckuva lot right."

Pritchard received a bachelor and masters degrees of political science and history from the University of Arkansas in 1951. He earned a doctorate in law and diplomacy in 1954 at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy. He established the department of international studies at Southwestern in Memphis in 1955. In 1962 he became deputy secretary general of the Peace Corps' international office in Washington, and from there he became the director of the Peace Corps programs in the Far East. He left the Peace Corps in 1968 to serve as an executive for the Development and Resources Corp. of New York.

Dr. Ross J. Pritchard

For a long time now, I have been trying to decide what to write in the "Editor's Spot" and nothing seemed appropriate. Then I decided that the best way to do it would be just to sit down and type what I was thinking, especially since the deadline is about two hours away.

First of all, I would like to thank everyone that had a part in producing this book. Tom Manning, our advisor, was ever helpful, even though I scared him a few times by almost missing the deadline. Many thanks to his News Bureau staff also, for without them, the class section might be void.

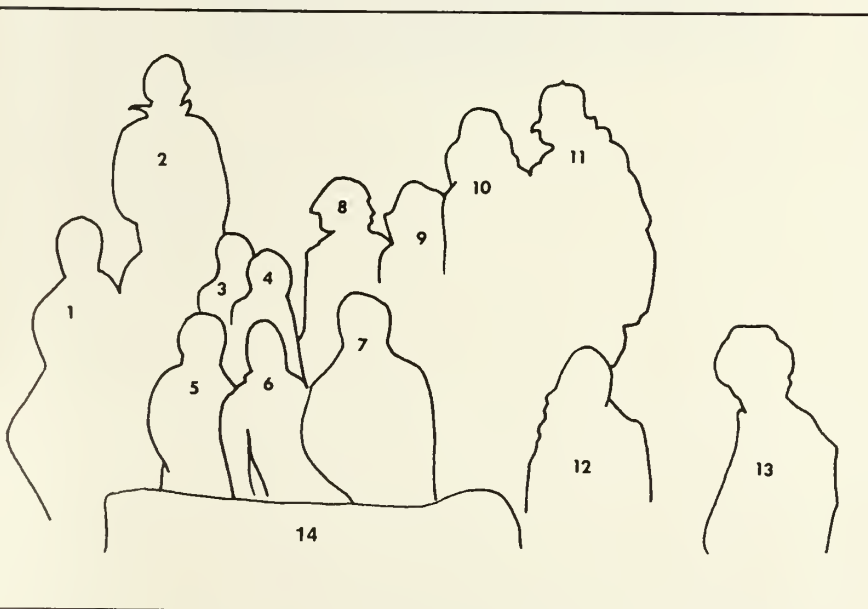

I am glad that the photographers found time, between their MHE enterprises and trips to the Rib Shack, to give us all the pictures we needed. They really did a fine job. After I got it through to Randy (if I ever did, that is) who was the editor, everything worked out fine.

The section editors were always full of surprises. "Surprise, I just finished my pages!" Rita was the wit of the yearbook room with her "JO Jit! Jere'd jit jo??" Rusty was always there with a calm, "Well. . .". Connie and Sharon, the Wynne girls turned out a good section. Many thanks to them all for taking into consideration that I was a "green" editor, and subject to making a lot of mistakes.

And last but not least, I would like to thank Michael for standing by me and for his patience and understanding.

If you don't like the book, I only have one reply, "Where were you on those lonely nights in the Reng Center, Room 209??"
